CAT scan fund tops its goal

Donations to the Peterborough-based 'Back the CAT' campaign are nearing the $2 million mark according to campaign co-ordinator Jerry Peters.

Original goal of the fund raising drive to purchase a computer assisted tomography machine to serve a four county area, including Haliburton, was $1.8 million, but by last week donations received and pledged had climbed to $1.976 million.

A decision to order the scanner was made earlier this year when it became apparent that the campaign target would be reached. It will be placed in a special 'suite' now being

Eakins to speak to local Chamber

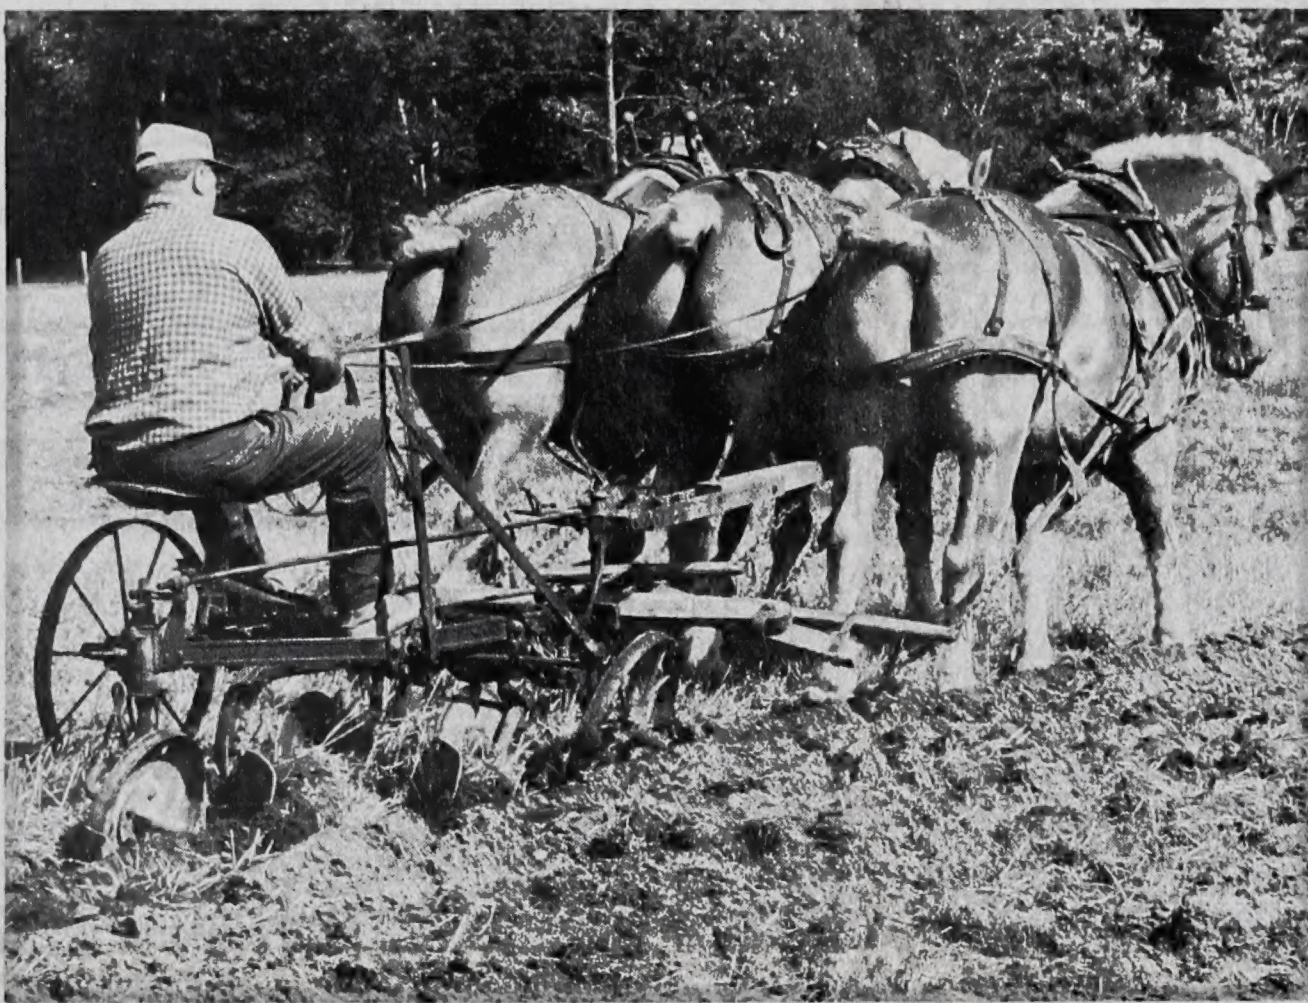

Ontario tourism minister John Eakins will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce later this month.

Manager Shirley Rapson said Eakins agreed earlier this summer to the idea of attending the meeting, but his presence has only now been confirmed.

In a change from the format of past annual meetings, there will be no afternoon business session or seminars this year. Instead, a short business meeting will be held as part of an evening that will include dinner in the PineStone Inn's ballroom and an address by Eakins. The Chamber manager said she hopes for a substantial turnout under the new format, and because of the profile of the minister, who has indicated an interest in listening to the concerns of area tourist operators.

Election of a new board of directors will also be on the evening's agenda. Preliminary indications are that a substantial number of directors on the present Chamber board will seek re-election.

Date of the annual meeting is Friday, October 18. Tickets are available from the Chamber office or any of the directors.

The creak of harness and the smell of freshly turned soil filled the air on Ingram Wessell's Norland area farm on Saturday as the Haliburton County Farmers' Association staged a draft horse demonstration day.

A number of teamsters and horse fanciers were on hand for the event, which took place under perfect autumn weather.

Martin workers begin strike

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

The members of Local 2100 of the International Woodworkers of America have gone on strike at G.W. Martin Lumber's Harcourt mill.

The company and union representatives have been trying to reach agreement on a new contract since May. Mediation talks held in Peterborough on Friday failed and the workers exercised their legal right to strike just after midnight on Monday.

A spokesman for the lumber company said Monday that an agreement was made through the mediator that "neither side would cease production until October 5." The union was to go back to the workers and vote on a tentative agreement, the company spokesman said.

But a union representative said no such deal was made and that the workers barely talked to Martin Lumber representatives at the mediation session.

"We made no commitment whatsoever at the meeting," said the union press agent, Barry Hendry, adding that workers on the mid-night shift decided to go on strike immediately. "Where they (the company) got that impression I have no idea."

Mediation talks failed, Hendry said, because the lumber company did not address any of the issues the union felt were important, such as pension and dental plans, and the wage offers were not acceptable.

"The point is, we've asked for things that are reasonable," said Hendry. "We've had bad offers in the past and they are getting worse. If they thought the issue was wages they shouldn't have offered less and less."

The lumber mill has closed down completely and the only people Hendry knows of crossing the picket lines are some independent loggers and MTC trucks carrying asphalt.

"We're not stopping anyone and we're going to conduct ourselves cautiously and politely," Hendry said. The workers met with Ontario Provincial Police representatives yesterday to discuss picket conduct and safety.

Martin Lumber officials refused to discuss any aspect of the strike except for its brief comments on the mediation talks.

"We're not commenting on that at the moment," said the spokesman when asked about the strike.

PC's pick delegates to vote for leader

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

If Friday night's election of Victoria-Haliburton delegates for the upcoming Progressive Conservative leadership race was anything to judge by, Ontario's next leader of the opposition will be Dennis Timbrell.

Eight adult delegates were chosen to represent the riding and of them, four said they would favour Timbrell. The other four were uncommitted, saying they would listen to the speeches at the convention and then make up their minds.

Four of the seven alternates chosen also said they would vote for the former minister of Agriculture.

There were 14 men nominated for the eight male positions and while half of them said they supported Timbrell, there was no mention of either Larry Grossman or Alan Pope, the other two leadership hopefuls.

Riding PC president Lorne Chester was chosen as a delegate before the nominations began because of his status. After the meeting he said he was not committed to any of the candidates.

Haliburton's Glen Hodgson said in his nomination speech that he would vote for Timbrell because "we have to have a representative who might have to fight more than one election, someone who can weather the storm in longer terms."

It is because the riding is rural and Timbrell used to be the Minister of Agriculture that delegate Carson Knox chooses Timbrell over the others. "He seems like a man who is willing to step out and try to get things done," Knox said.

"I want our new leader to energize the party," said Art Ward, who did not say if he favoured one leader over the other. "He must be able to mobilize that great feeling we once had...and deliver us back to a majority government."

Putting the lustre back into the party was a key point in all the speeches. Nominees seemed to feel that one slight aberration of the Conservatives' place in history was enough and it was time to get back to their "rightful" place in politics -- the leaders.

Alternates, one for each of the delegates, will be on hand at the convention in case something happens to prevent a delegate from voting. Dave Bishop, Larry McKnight and Case Davidson all said they would support Timbrell while Dave Gemmill said he was uncommitted.

Even though there were not enough women nominees to fill all eight positions, 11 women who were nominated declined the chance to go to the convention. Of the seven women who did accept their nominations, four will go as delegates and three as alternates.

Four of eight will support Timbrell

In a rather lengthy speech, Ruth Anne Mathews traced her roots with the Conservative Party back to her childhood days when her father was a returning officer. She says she has had information from Dennis Timbrell but until she reaches the convention, she is uncommitted.

Bev Hickson said she would choose Timbrell as the "new leader for all of Ontario," because he appeals to the voters in Toronto and the grassroots areas.

"I can see a real need for a revitalization of our party and a strong leader," said Marlene Nicholls before she told the crowd she would be supporting Timbrell.

For Jane Johnston, the main issues are the environment and separate school funding and in November she will be looking for a leader who can be a strong policy maker. She did not say if she supported one candidate over another.

Alternates Margot Fawcett and Pat Chester Sr. also did not voice support for any one candidate but Olive McCall said she would vote for Timbrell.

The youth delegates were voted in without any speeches except one by Young Progressive Conservative riding president Kelly Reynolds. She talked of the youth club's activities in the coming year and thanked her executive. She will be going as a delegate along with Farly Schrader. Christina Garrells is going as an alternate.

The cost for each senior delegate or alternate is $330 and senior observers are to pay $220. The youth delegates and any spouses must pay $100. These prices will rise on October 21 so delegates are encouraged to register early.

Turnout for the elections held at the Lindsay Legion was more than one hundred members and interested spectators. A raffle was held for a ham and turkey but since Lorne Chester won the first option on either of them, he got Carl Hickson to auction it off. The ham went for $50. Flower bouquets were also auctioned off to raise money for the riding.

Ingoldsby bridge opened as ribbon is officially cut

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

There were many proud faces at the Ingoldsby bridge on Wednesday for the official opening of the new cement and steel structure.

"The completion of this bridge is a significant step forward in the history of the county," said E.J. McCabe, executive director of municipal transportation for the Ministry of Transportation and Communications. He was on hand with representatives of county and municipal councils, and members of the community, to participate in the ribbon cutting.

McCabe said the type of bridge built was a revolutionary design back in the 1950's when engineers found new ways to combine steel and cement for strength, cost reduction and aesthetic appeal.

"I think it looks terrific and I wish we had this type of bridge in Sherborne," joked County Warden Dalton MacDonald.

The bridge had been a contentious issue in the community for quite some time, with many people voicing complaints and decisions delayed until a consensus could be reached. But through it all, all parties were satisfied and the bridge was built.

"You could be on the road committee and come back in two years and they'd still be talking about it," remembered Reeve Murray Fearrey. He said the objections made during the planning months were good ones and helped the county build a better bridge.

After the ribbon cutting, the various councillors and people associated with the bridge, about 20 in number, went to the Bonnie View Inn for a steak lunch.

With a few cuts of the scissors, Warden Dalton MacDonald officially opens the Ingoldsby Bridge. With many other councillors in attendance, as well as a few locals, those chosen to help with the ceremonies

General Occurrences

During the period of September 23 to 29, personnel at Minden Detachment investigated the following occurrences: 10 motor vehicle accidents in which seven persons were injured; and 49 general occurrences, including five thefts.

Accidents

On Thursday, September 26 at 4:40 p.m., on Little Kennis Lake Rd. in Havelock Township, in Lee, age 41, or Norland, braked suddenly to avoid a deer. His '76 Buick slid off the road into the ditch where it rolled over and sustained $3,500 damage. He was taken to the Haliburton Hospital with undetermined injuries.

On Friday, September 27 at 4:30 p.m., on County Rd. 1, in Snowdon Township, a rented '86 Dodge fishtailed from side to side, then drove into the ditch where it flipped over several times. Three persons were in the vehicle at the time. Cynthia Holm, age 22, of Haliburton, received major injuries including a suspected broken neck. Gunter Franke, age 32, of Haliburton, received a broken arm and other injuries. Steven Holm, age 20, of Downsview received minor injuries. All were taken to Minden Hospital. It has not yet been determined who was driving the car at the time of the accident.

Casting his votes for the delegates he wants to go to Toronto to pick the next leader of the Conservatives, reeve Murray Fearrey gets a helping hand from one of the nominees, Perry Grandel. The elections were held last Friday at the Lindsay Legion.

Sherborne briefs ...

At a recent meeting of Sherborne et al council, the following matters were dealt with:

Municipal law enforcement officer/chief building official Dave McDonald discussed the issue of placing a trailer for living accommodation on lands zoned Residential. McDonald said this was contrary to Restricted Area By-law #839.

Correspondence was received from Irene Hume, secretary of the Dorset Snowmobile Club, requesting financial support to assist the club in equipment maintenance/repair and trail maintenance for the upcoming 1985/86 season. A financial report was also filed.

Council directed the clerk treasurer to issue a cheque in the amount of $600 to the Dorset Snowmobile Club to assist in the maintenance and grooming of their snowmobile trails and in the promotion of tourism within the community.

Council directed the clerk treasurer to renew the Land Use Permit for the Municipal Garbage Disposal Site located in Part of Lots 23 and 24, Concession "A" in the Township of McClintock. The period of use covered under this Land Use Permit is from September 2, 1985 to September 1, 1986 and the rental fee due is in the amount of $31.50 payable to the Treasurer of Ontario.

A report from the Committee of Adjustment was circulated confirming that minor variance had been granted to Marlene Pineau property owner on Wren Lake. One of the conditions under the Pineau minor variance was the requirement to enter into a lease agreement with the municipality for the use of part of the original shore road allowance and that application was made to have the original shore road allowance stopped up, closed and conveyed. Council directed the clerk treasurer to prepare a lease agreement between the Corporation and Marlene Mary Carmen Pineau. This lease agreement is prepared in order to comply with the conditions of the Minor Variance under Application #A-3/85 to allow for the construction of a season single family dwelling unit on the original lake shore road allowance located in Concession "A", Part Lot 14, Sherborne Twp. on the Plan RD-77, Parts 23, 24 and 25 and outlined on the preliminary sketch prepared by N.P. Lyndon, O.L.S. on the 10th day of July, 1985. Council directed the reeve and the clerk to sign the lease agreement upon its preparation with all costs incurred to be borne by Marlene Mary Carmen Pineau.

Council was in receipt of correspondence from W.D. Steele. His concerns as to recent severance applications were noted and the clerk was instructed to advise Steele that the decision made by council in commenting on the severance with conditions remains unchanged.

The clerk submitted a written request from Ron Grills requesting a change in lot frontage measurements on a previously granted severance. Council had no objection to a minimum of 150 foot frontage to comply with SR2 zoning under Restricted Area By-law #839.

Murray Fearrey, Reeve, and Glen Hodgson, councillor for the Township of Dysart et al attended council to discuss the subject of extending the South Kawagama Lake Road in the future in phases. Council advised Dysart members that they would support an application for Development Road funding, but not financially since the extension of the road would not open any lands in Sherborne et al.

Next item on the agenda was a letter from E.B. Rachar enquiring as to possible acquisition of the road allowance leading to water between the Rachar and Booth property. The clerk was instructed to advise that council prefers to retain this allowance for public access.

Correspondence from County Roads Engineer, W. Obee to John Walther was circulated to members of council. The County cannot change the name of the Livingstone Lake Road at the present time and any change in the road name would have to come through the Township council. Council prefers the County Road #12 designation to avoid confusion.

Sir Sandford given Leslie Frost cottage

The Ontario Heritage Foundation has donated an historically important cottage to Sir Sandford Fleming College.

Originally the property of Leslie Frost, Premier of Ontario from 1949 to 1961, the cottage was used as a refuge and retreat by Premier Frost and his friends and colleagues. It is located at Pleasant Point on Sturgeon Lake in Victoria County. There are two buildings and a swimming pool on the site. The main cottage is a log structure over 140 years old, which Frost had transported from Emily Township in 1948.

At a ceremony that took place Monday, Peter McGarvey, of the Ontario Heritage Foundation, officially turned over the deed to the property to Leslie Groombridge, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the College.

The property will be used by the staff of Sir Sandford Fleming College as a meeting place for workshops and seminars. The college is also considering arrangements for use of the facilities by the community.

The college will preserve and secure the unique heritage, artifacts, and memorabilia at the cottages. Arrangements will be made in the future for the historical articles to be viewed by the public. The property will be maintained by staff of the Frost Campus.

The Frost Campus (Lindsay) of Sir Sandford Fleming College is named after Leslie Frost who served on the College's Board of Governors for a number of years. Marjorie Porter, of Woodville, Ontario, niece of the late Leslie Frost, currently a member of the Board of Governors of Sir Sandford Fleming College, provided a gathering of the Board of Governors and community friends with a few personal observations concerning Frost and the cottage. Sir Sandford Fleming College teacher Brian McFadden provided an in depth historical perspective.

According to Sir Sandford Fleming College president Charles Pascal, "the cottage brings into vivid focus the informal and human perspective of an important part of Ontario history."

Travel scams caution issued

Ontario Consumer Minister Monte Kwinter is advising recipients of a mailed travel promotion that the company behind the enticing offer isn't registered with the government and that money sent to the company isn't protected by the Travel Industry Act Compensation Fund.

Kwinter said 19,000 announcements were mailed out to various parts of Canada last week by a company calling itself International Travel.

The announcements told recipients that they had won a three-day, two-night vacation for two adults and two children at any one of "six world famous resorts" in Las Vegas, San Francisco, Hawaii and other exotic locations.

Before claiming the prize, however, recipients of the announcement are required to forward a cheque of money order for $29.95 to a Toronto address to cover "processing and handling".

The vacation package, the announcement claimed, would be forwarded within 20 days.

"Our investigators have determined the address on the announcement is just a mail drop and all replies and

PC's must battle back Lindsay meeting told

By MARTHA PERKINS

The Progressive Conservative Party of Ontario has to use its minority status to the best advantage and revitalize the party, the PC delegates meeting was told on Friday.

United minister announces move

Haliburton United Church minister John James will leave Haliburton next June to take over as minister of a church in Mount Forest, Ontario. He announced his decision to the local congregation last Sunday.

Commenting on the announcement in a telephone interview Tuesday, James said he and his wife Barb "decided that, as close as we could see," the church in Mount Forest "is where God wanted us to go."

The Mount Forest church is substantially larger than the Haliburton charge, with a congregation of 750 in the main facility and a rural church with an additional 75 members.

The James family moved to Haliburton in January 1981, and by the time they settle in Mount Forest, they will have served the local community for five and a half years.

His work at Mount Forest will include a television ministry which broadcasts Sunday services on the local cable television system.

James said he also intends to further his education by enrolling in a Doctoral program while serving his next charge.

In the meantime, he will continue to serve the needs of the Haliburton, Lochlin and Ingoldsby congregations.

"I don't intend to be a lame duck for (the next) nine months," he said.

"We mustn't lose sight of the fact that what you've done over the years is something to be proud of," said Hugh Stevens, area co-ordinator. "When you're knocked down on the ground, the winners are the ones who get off the mat and that's what we've got to do."

It is the strength that comes from being knocked down that will help them be the governing party again, he said. "We have to rebuild on that strength and build on these people."

"What is happening out there is people were slapping us on our wrists and suggested we should be concerned about how we ran the province."

His speech sometimes resembled a sermon to the converted but the people on hand were pleased to listen to Stevens and offered comments and suggestions of their own about how the party should be run.

There were questions about reducing costs, especially those at the convention meeting where most people were barred because of the $220 price tag just to be an observer. Another man mentioned how terrible the food had been at the last convention.

"Some people have told me that the well has run dry," Stevens said, attributing part of the present lack of funds to the cost of running an election. Television commercials are expensive but he said "if you don't compete then it makes it difficult to get the consumer to buy it."

Stevens' advice to the riding was to get out now drumming up support for the Conservatives for the next election. "We ask people what sort of government they'd like in this province."

One suggestion that met with disapproval is that the riding not choose a candidate until the boundary issue was settled. New boundary lines have been drawn and if the government does not table them this fall or spring, then a riding may Hopeful delegates and Progressive Conservative notaries gathered at the Lindsay Legion on Friday to fill in time as the votes were being gathered. Ten delegates and their alternates will travel to Toronto in November to choose a new Tory leader.

CAS hopes for a higher profile

At its new and bigger location behind the Bank of Commerce, the Haliburton branch of the Children's Aid Society hopes more people will come in and ask about the services it provides the community.

"As a result of our increased presence our workload has increased tremendously," said Richard Hildreth, the manager of the Lindsay branch of the Kewartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society which in turn helps operate the Haliburton village branch.

Hildreth was on hand at the CAS open house on Thursday from noon to five along with social worker Gena Robertson and secretary Jamie Hurley. "Part of the reason we did it this way," he said, "was to increase its visibility." The CAS used to have a small office behind the medical building.

Many people identify the CAS as an adoption agency but the collection of social workers and other mental and health care workers also does a lot to help families cope with problems such as child abuse,

New nursing home complex proposed

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has agreed to set up a co-ordinating committee to look into a proposal for a new nursing home in Minden.

Patricia White came to council on Thursday night with a proposal to build a grand-scale retirement community on the southern corner of Highway 35 and Prince Street. The complex would include a hotel, 14 cluster homes, 84 senior citizen apartments, 30 intermediate care rooms, 25 extended care rooms, 20 chronic care rooms, commercial and clinical space, a swimming pool and an activity centre.

"It would offer a place that would be integrated with the town of Minden where the senior citizens could come to live," according to their needs and abilities, said Henry Gotfryd, the Toronto landscape architect who helped design the complex along with architect Victor Heinrichs. Both men were on hand to discuss the plans with council and have had experience with nursing home facilities.

The property was bought eight years ago by White, a nurse who has owned other nursing homes and who has a cottage on Green Lake. She bought it with the intention of building a nursing home but before that happened, others were built to meet the area's needs.

Today there is a shortage of beds for the elderly, especially those requiring constant care, and Minden council has been studying other proposals such as an addition to Hyland Crest.

"This time I have gone two steps further," said White, referring to the presence of Gotfryd and Heinrichs. "Henry Gotfryd generally gets approached by people who have lots of land and don't know what to do with it."

"I thought a whole community might be a better idea," said Gotfryd. "Together with Victor, who has a lot of experience with retirement communities, we've come up with some plans of what would make best sense for Minden."

The first step in the plan is cluster homes for seniors who need no nursing attention but wish to remain in a house of their own. Walkways would join the homes to the health and recreational facilities in the main building. Up to 21 people could live in the homes, which would be individually financed.

The apartments would be on the ground and second storey of the main building. The units range from one bedroom to two bedrooms and a den and could house 101 people. Residents would have the use of all the facilities.

Intermediate care units would be on the third floor and a duty nurse or attendant would be on hand at all times. Apart from the individual rooms, there would be a 300 square foot dining room and a lounge and staff room.

Also on the third floor would be extended care facilities for those seniors who require up to two and a half hours of nursing care a day. It's 40 bed capability could be expanded to 80 in the future and would include a dining room, craft room, lounge areas, a bathing area with a whirlpool tub, a wheelchair shower, utility rooms and a nursing station.

Chronic care facilities for 30 people would be built at the west end of the third floor in accordance with Ministry of Health specifications.

Since both the extended and chronic care facilities must have a government licence, the two men proposed a hotel-based use of the rooms.

"At the present time, licensing of new extended care facilities in Ontario has been severely restricted by the Ministry of Health," their report reads. "However, the province may consider issuing a proposal call for new beds in the Minden area, based upon a recommendation from the Regional Health Council. An optimal method of appraising the Regional Health Council of this need for extended care, is through the formation of a local interest group. This group could work with us towards obtaining licensing, and upon implementation, could also continue to provide ongoing liaison with the community."

Because only non-profit corporations are able to receive licensing for chronic care beds, a non-profit board would have to be set up (with assistance from Gotfryd and Heinrichs) and then the board would lease facilities to White.

The bulk of construction would start upon the sale of units.

"It would be a place where you'd want to go instead of have to go," said Heinrichs. Other members of the community could also use the facilities, he said.

The two men asked council for three things.

Since they want to start building by spring, they want council to help form a board to pursue government licensing.

Then they want to make sure zoning by-laws are made agreeable to the plans.

Thirdly, they want "a commitment from council that when the ministry sends out for proposals that the Minden council would support our proposal and no other."

prepared at Peterborough Civic Hospital. Representatives from Siemens Electric Limited, the company which won out over other bidders to supply the machine, are working with hospital architects and electrical engineers to have the site ready for the device.

Delivery date has been tentatively scheduled for October 21. An official opening will be scheduled after the testing period, which is expected to take six to eight weeks.

Physicians throughout Peterborough, Victoria, Haliburton and North Hastings, as well as Peterborough city, will be able to refer their patients to Civic for the sophisticated x-ray testing the machine provides once it is fully functional. Before the campaign began, the nearest CAT scanners were in the Toronto area and Kingston.

The provincial Ministry of Health will provide funds to meet operating costs of the scanner, but the initial funding had to come from donations, under provincial health care policy.

On strike

Strikes are not a common occurrence in Haliburton County, despite the presence of a number of union locals. For the most part, unions and management have worked effectively within the parameters of the collective bargaining process, and settlements usually have been reached without work stoppages.

That being so, it is particularly dismaying that unionized workers at the G.W. Martin Lumber Limited plant in Harcourt went on strike Monday following the apparent failure of mediation efforts. While strikes are a legitimate step in the bargaining process, they often prove costly indeed, not only for the company but for the workers, who may lose more money in even a brief strike than they gain in the contract which puts them back on the job.

There are other risks associated with a strike as well. Strikes, or the impasse that precipitates them, can strain the relationship between management and workers, and leave resentment that takes a long time to dissipate. And there is always the risk that anger may flare in a protracted strike and people and property may be harmed.

To their credit, the Martin Lumber workers have given no indication that they will conduct themselves in any manner other than an exemplary one. A union spokesman said Tuesday that pickets would not stop anyone from entering the plant, and that "we're going to conduct ourselves cautiously and politely."

Still, a strike is not something to be taken lightly. It is an action which causes hardships on both sides of the dispute. For the sake of the workers as well as the company, it is to be hoped that a settlement can be worked out speedily and with good will.

Ideas needed

It may seem a little early to start thinking about those frigid days next February when the Haliburton Rotary Club stages the 1986 winter carnival, but the nip in the air on these October nights is a reminder that winter will be here before we know it. So now is a good time to get started on making the 1986 winter carnival something special.

Like the community itself, the winter carnival cannot stand still. It can't rely on the same format and the same events year after year if it is to hold the interest of local people and provide visitors with a weekend to remember. Yet in recent years some of the excitement that was generated in the early years of the carnival has begun to wain. And part of the reason is that the burden of organizing and carrying out the carnival has fallen squarely on the shoulders of Rotary Club members, all of whom have businesses and other interests that take a big part of their time.

This year, however, carnival organizer Don Popple hopes to inject some new vigour into the carnival with the help of the community as a whole. To that end, he has called a meeting for this Wednesday evening at the Dysart community centre, where interested people and groups are invited to bring forward suggestions for improving the carnival.

It is obvious that the carnival can only benefit from the involvement of a larger number of people. Perhaps the first and most important step would be for local organizations to take on one task, or stage one event at the carnival. The Echo has already agreed to be responsible for the snow sculpture contest, and to try to inject a new element of competition, as well as spectator interest, into it. The local cross country ski club has indicated a willingness to consider a cross country loppet this year. No doubt there are at least a dozen new events that could be organized by individuals and groups which would make the 1986 carnival the best yet.

If you care about the carnival, turn out to Wednesday's meeting.

Postal service 'national disgrace'

To the Editor

Editor's note: The following letters have been sent to William Scott, MP, and Michel Cote, Postmaster General of Canada.

Dear Mr. Scott:

Attached is a copy of a letter that I have written to the Hon. Michel Cote, Postmaster General: contents are self-explanatory.

In this regard, I tried to reach you to discuss this matter with you, hoping that you might support my plea for a better postal service.

I telephoned your office, but after speaking to two members of your staff, I decided to go ahead on my own when the only help that I was given was contained in a suggestion that I send my letter to M. Cote to your office, from where it would be forwarded to the Postmaster General. In as much as I am quite capable of addressing a letter directly to any member of the federal government, I found such a suggestion to be UNhelpful.

Honourable Sir:

I have been patient with Canada Post's dreadful service for long enough! This letter to you is the start of a vigorous campaign on my part to seek a full investigation of Canada Post, an essential service that has for years been nothing more than

A man who will be missed

If it is right to say that a community can only grow and prosper by the ideas and energies of new people who settle in it, then it may be just as accurate to say that a community is diminished in equal measure by the loss of people who have played an active role in its affairs. This week the community has been dealt a small but significant blow by the announcement that Rev. John James of Haliburton United Church has accepted a new post in Mount Forest, and will move to that community next June.

In the almost five years he has been in Haliburton, John James has accomplished a great deal, not the least of which has been an ambitious expansion and renovation program that has made the local church better able to serve the needs of its congregation. There is much more to the task of leading a congregation than enlarging the edifice in which it meets, however. A minister holds a powerful position in the community, and the way he uses that power is the test of his effectiveness. In that respect, John James has been a positive influence in Haliburton. He has reached out beyond the people who fill the church pews on Sundays to everyone who sought his help. He has written articles for the newspaper which have shown not only the force of his commitment to religious beliefs, but his wisdom and sensitivity on secular matters as well. Under his leadership, the spirit of ecumenical cooperation which should be a source of pride among local churches, has been enhanced.

Growth demands change, of course, and five years is perhaps long enough for a minister to head one parish if he seeks new challenges and new ways to serve. But Haliburton has been improved by the presence of John James and his family, and although everyone who knew them will wish them well, they will certainly be missed.

The Haliburton Figure Skating Club held their annual Turkey Dinner at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Sunday. I understand that attendance was down slightly from other years. It seems to be the opinion of some people that the club would be wise to start the dinner later, at say 5:00 p.m., and run through until 7:00 p.m. This might be an idea for another year.

Mark's Cafe, which has been in operation for many years, closed its doors on Saturday. The many customers who patronized this restaurant are feeling sorry that the closing date has finally arrived.

Following every Haliburton Winter Carnival several people always come up with suggestions and ideas on what should have taken place and what they would like to see added to the winter carnival in the future. The Rotary Club of Haliburton realize that some changes should be made and this is one reason why they have called a meeting for anyone wishing input into the 1986 Winter Carnival. Anyone interested is asked to please attend the meeting, which is to be held at the Dysart arena in Haliburton tonight (Wednesday, October 2). The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m., not 8:30, as previously reported. Don't sit home and talk about what should be done; get out to the meeting and tell them what you think should happen. It's the old saying, "The day of the fair is the day to be there".

We are sorry to report three deaths which occurred last week: Ada Gibbs at the Haliburton Hospital, Hilda Kellett at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Toronto, and Jackie Roberts at her home here in Haliburton. My sympathy goes out to the family members in their time of bereavement.

These next few lines of humour are enough to keep those who are afraid of flying at home with their feet on the ground. The story goes that a pilot on one of the major airlines would wait until the going got bumpy, then he would stroll through the cabin with a book under his arm. The title, which he would keep prominently displayed, was "How to Fly in 20 Lessons".

I have just learned that Terry Blair has purchased the building formerly known as the Tri-County Furniture Warehouse from Rick Bain. Mr. Blair, who operates County Commercial Printers in Haliburton, will be moving his job printing business from his home to his new location on the Robertson road across from the Driftwood Restaurant.

It will soon be World Series time and what makes it just that much more interesting this fall is the fact that it looks as though the Toronto Blue Jays have a great chance of being there for the big series. They will have to get by the playoffs first but the way that the team has been playing this should prove to be an easy task.

The Dysart arena in Haliburton is a hive of activity these days as the local hockey players are using ice time to round into shape for the upcoming hockey season. Some of the minor hockey players are practising and some local pickup teams are practising on a regular basis.

Please support the CNIB financial campaign which is now underway. Money can't buy sight, but your dollars help blind people to help themselves through the CNIB's continuing service.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Sisson of Haliburton are at present vacationing in Winnipeg, Manitoba and visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Rick Poole and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Elstone and Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Salvatori have returned home following a three week vacation out west. They were happy to have had the opportunity to visit relatives along the way.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Iles of Haliburton and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harding of Toronto are at present on vacation in Ireland.

Some members of the local Progressive Conservative Party were in Lindsay on Sunday to meet with Dennis Timbrell who is a candidate in the leadership convention which will be held in Toronto in November.

One of the main topics of conversation these days in Haliburton besides the Toronto Blue Jays is the weather. It certainly has been a nice September here with summer temperatures and plenty of that good old sunshine. Many people are wondering why we didn't get this nice weather in the summertime. Looking back we must admit that the weather during the two months of July and August left a great deal to be desired. It had to have a bad effect on the tourist industry here in the Highlands of Haliburton.

It looked like summer all over again when we noticed students at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School last Monday out driving golf balls on the football field.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Austin of Huntsville, Ontario were visiting with relatives in the village recently.

Commission seeks UI program view

The Commission of Inquiry on Unemployment Insurance was formed by the Prime Minister on July 6, 1985. Its mandate is to study our current system and report to the government by March 1986. On September 18 it released a discussion paper entitled "Unemployment Insurance - Back to the Drawing Board?"

The chairman of the Commission stated that it is now time to reconsider the objectives of Unemployment Insurance. Three issues he believes must be raised are: The risks to be covered; who is entitled to what; and how behaviour is affected. In the discussion paper the Commission has already identified some areas which it wishes to explore in more detail.

- the underlying philosophy of U.I. and its relationship to other social programs and private income protection plans
- the administration of the unemployment insurance program
- business, labour and government - who pays what price?
- special uses of the U.I. fund - who benefits?
- an approach to people presently excluded from participation in the U.I. program.

The first priority of the Commission is to obtain the views, concerns, and suggestions of as many Canadians as possible. To do so, public hearings will be held across the Country beginning in the fourth week of October. They will provide a forum for discussion with all concerned groups and citizens.

If you want to address one of the hearings you should watch the newspapers and send your submission to the Commission at least two weeks before the hearing at which you wish to appear.

This submission should be in the form of an outline of what you propose to say.

If you would like further information, intend to address the hearings, or want to get a copy of "Unemployment Insurance - Back to the Drawing Board?" please write to: Elizabeth Dowdeswell, Executive Director, Commission of Inquiry on Unemployment Insurance, P.O. Box 3432, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5K0.

As Mr. Forget stated "The hearings and the process of consultation must be more than an occasion to vent grievances, or to air views about recommendations of past task forces and Commissions of Inquiry. It will take a cooperative collaborative effort to develop innovative, politically feasible initiatives that will serve us all well in the future."

Federal Old Age Security pensions, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance will be increased in October to keep them in line with the cost of living. The universal old age pension will rise to $282.94 a month, the maximum supplement (GIS) will rise to $336.26 for single pensioners and the maximum for married people will rise to $219.00 for each spouse. The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $501.94 and the maximum extended Spouse's Allowance will rise to $554.16 a month.

An amendment to the OAS Act, effective September 1, now allows payment of the Spouse's Allowance to all 60 to 64 year old, low income widows and widowers who live in Canada and who meet the residence requirements, regardless of when their spouses died. If you feel you may be eligible, or you know someone who might be eligible you should contact your closest Income Security Programs office to get information on how to apply.

'Dreadful' postal system assailed

I am the author of 17 books published in 16 countries in 13 languages. I work at home, since, unlike many Canadian writers, I devote myself full-time to my craft. While doing so, I am constantly being handicapped by the mail service; so much so that for the past seven years I have taken to using the telephone or private carriers in order to expedite the bulk of my business with publishers in Canada and elsewhere. My publishers, likewise, use the telephone and couriers in order to communicate with me for all but routine matters.

In the above context, my telephone and courier costs are high. They are also tax-deductible: this means that both myself and Canada are paying more for a service that ought to be carried out by Canada Post. In this regard, the loss of tax revenue to our country must be considerable, given the fact that most businesses by-pass the mail and pay the far higher costs of telephone and courier services, which costs are also claimed as legitimate business expenses. Indeed, I know from personal experience that the Ontario Government employs private carriers for most, if not all, its inter-department affairs when these relate to long-distance communication. In like vein, as you yourself must know, when the Government of Canada must communicate in writing with its offices in Hull, Quebec, such mail is not entrusted to Canada Post. Furthermore, if I, or anyone else living in an area of Canada south and west of Quebec, must write to a Federal agency located in Hull, it is necessary to address a letter to the agency concerned by designating the street number and name in Hull, but addressing the envelope to Ottawa, with an Ottawa postal code. If this is not done, such mail goes to Montreal, by-passing Hull, and is then re-routed back to Hull, causing further delays.

Despite repeated claims by Michael Warren (before he resigned) that the mail runs on time in Canada, my experience, like that of a great many other individuals and businesses in other parts of this nation, shows that delivery is outrageously delayed.

Some examples: On September 3 of this year a properly addressed letter mailed at first class rates at our local post office to a correspondent in Lindsay, some 50 miles away, took four days to arrive; on August 16, a parcel of photographs was sent to me by first class mail from Michigan and did not arrive until September 6, 20 days later. Yet, my correspondent mailed an identical parcel, also first class and on the same day and at the same time, to my publisher in New York City: this was received in New York in four days. Before this, the Institute of Himalayan Studies, of Delhi, India, wrote to me in care of my Toronto publisher: the post marks showed that the letter took seven days to get to Toronto from India and nine days to get to Gooderham from Toronto, a distance of 120 miles! Similarly, if I must communicate by mail with my London, England, publisher, it takes three weeks for such a letter to reach its destination if posted in Canada. If, as I now do, the letter is sent from here by private carrier to my agent in New York City, who then mails it first class to London, it reaches its destination in three days. The enclosed envelope arrived here on September 17, is another typical example of Canada Post's abysmal service: it was sent Express from New York City on September 9, as the post-mark clearly shows. It arrived in Ottawa on September 14 and from there was sent to Kingston, arriving there on September 16. Finally, it reached me on September 17. Thus an Express letter from New York took eight days to arrive. Beyond that, as you can see from the condition of the envelope, it had a very rough passage, evidently having been trapped in a post machine of some sort. In as much as the letter contained a sizeable royalty cheque, and because I knew it had been mailed on September 9, I made two long-distance calls to New York to enquire as to its whereabouts and to debate whether or not to put a stop payment on the cheque. The above are just a very few of the examples that I could give to show that Canada's postal service is in a dreadful state of disarray. Meanwhile, the price of stamps has risen astronomically as the mail service continues to deteriorate.

For all of the above reasons, I am herewith requesting that you, as Post Master General, initiate a full and proper enquiry into the affairs of Canada Post with a view to greatly improving a service that is costing the taxpayers of our nation hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

I remain Sir,
Yours truly,
R.D. Lawrence

Back to drawing board

To the Editor:

Further to the Ministry of Natural Resources public meeting on September 14 and your news story "Regulation Changes Debated by Anglers" and Editorial "Results" in your September 18 edition, we would like to point out the following with respect to the proposal to close only selected lake trout lakes in winter.

Fishing Division 13 to the North of Haliburton County is open to lake trout fishing April 27, 1985 to October 10, 1986. Fishing Division 9 to the East of Haliburton County is open to lake trout fishing February 2 to 17, 1985 and June 1 to September 8, 1985. Fishing Division 29, also to the east of Haliburton County, is open March 9 to September 8, 1985 and Fishing Division 6 to the south and west of Haliburton County is open to lake trout fishing April 27 to October 10, 1985. All very sensible dates.

And what about Haliburton County (Division 7)? The dates are January 1 to October 10, 1985. So where does the winter fishing pressure move to? You guessed it. To good old Haliburton County.

The Ministry of Natural Resources proposal to close a few selected lakes to winter fishing is a questionable approach to a complex situation and may not even be a good compromise. Their proposal will result in -- you've guessed it again -- all the problems, pressure, traffic and garbage moving over to the adjacent lake(s).

There are many unanswered questions, there are many possible problems, and there are many possible solutions. There are also many alternatives to be evaluated. For example, if it is deemed appropriate that lakes be closed to winter fishing, then it would seem more logical that all the lakes in an area be closed.

Haliburton County, the area Municipalities and the Lake Associations are urged to take a very close look at the proposal, make their concerns known and forward their recommendations to the Ministry of Natural Resources. We suggest that much more alternative evaluation, potential problem analysis, and dialogue is on the horizon before the proposal as it now stands is etched in cement.

The bottom line is back to the drawing board guys!

Yours very truly,
J.G. Strickland
President, Miskwabi Area

Minden's Own Steamboat, 'The Kathleen'

This is a picture of the steamboat 'The Kathleen', built by Alfred Langdon. The picture shows it may have been docked at Gull Rock on Gull Lake. Mr. Langdon purchased William Eastman's blacksmith shop in 1907, where he built boats, canoes, and did some cabinet work. In 1909 he built this boat for his own use, and as it turned out, it was a boon to the Minden people. Many trips were made up and down the Gull River to Gull Lake, under the power of a small steam engine. Sunday school trips and community outings seemed to be the order of the day for years. The Kathleen would carry 43 passengers, and towed a row boat, as shown in the picture. According to the Women's Institute story, this row boat was purchased by them as a safety precaution for the Sunday school children. Mrs. Fred Barry, who lived on the Hillier farm on Highway 121, remembered when the boat was built. Going to school one day, he saw the boat mounted on two long skids. By using four teams of horses and rollers, the boat was edged along the street until it came to Peck Street. Men, teams and boat then continued down this street until they came to the river, where it was launched in the water behind the Dominion Hotel. The boat was used for years on the river and Gull Lake. Mr. Langdon eventually sold the boat to Wilfred Hancock at Irondale. It was loaded on four sets of sleighs, then towed by horse power over to Gelert, across the Gelert-Irondale road to Irondale, then to Devil's Lake (now Salerno Lake). This was accomplished, when the sleighing was good, some time around Christmas. Our thanks go to John S. Hulbig of RR #1, Kinmount for the photo and information.

A ride into an awesome wilderness

Northern Lights

by Virginia Muenzel

There are, on this earth, several places so awesomely beautiful that man, trying to recreate the scene on canvas or describe it in suitable words, discovers at once how truly insignificant he is. The Algoma train through Agawa Canyon brought us through such a place last week.

Having decided that if we were going to become part of this great country, we'd better start seeing some of it, our cohorts and we made plans for the trip to Sault Ste. Marie. I'm not a good traveller, and found the long car ride tedious. Except for the interestingly different landscape of Sudbury, there was nothing particularly splendid to view.

But we finally arrived, checked into our rooms, and made a mad dash for one of the tour boats that threatened to depart without us. We had a very nice water trip through a redeveloped waterfront, experienced our first trip through a set of locks, got as close as I ever want to get to a steel mill, and even learned a couple of engrossing bits of trivia.

Ah...but the train ride was the thing. Thursday morning found us hurrying along the track, searching for number six car of a surprisingly 22-car-long train. If ever I rode one before, I have no recollection of it. So, this was a learning experience for me. It was also another long sit.

But the countryside was worth it. We passed through the outskirts of the city, including, once again, the steel mill, a paper mill, and the underside of an international bridge. We cut through walls of rock, close enough to touch, passed a veneer mill, a ski resort (not in operation), hunting camps and cottages. We quickly lost count of the lakes, the valleys and the gorges. We watched the front of the train curve left around a mountain while we were still going right around the one before.

Then the train slowed. An approaching trestle with a wide, spectacular view was announced. We saw the engines begin to cross the 1550 foot long spindly thing. We were told to note the curve of the trestle and the excellent view. Talk about inadequate words! We could hear the swell of the oohs and ahhs moving through the cars as each of them progressed onto the trestle. We all reacted the same way, first looking down one hundred and thirty feet to the Montreal River. Then, back up to suddenly realize the immense scope of vision before us. Our eyes followed the path of the winding river through the valley that led, some fifteen miles or more away, to the Great Lake Superior. And there, words failed me. I knew I had to write about it. But searching my mind, I found no adjectives grand enough to convey the deep, weepy emotion I felt, while gazing through the train window, at the mist shrouded islands on that panoramic lake. And the mountains all around, with their rock faces, and frost-painted forests, the deep valley beneath us, cut by river, sand and rapids. The most complex camera in the world could not capture the dimensional depth of what was there before us. The Group of Seven couldn't catch what made us hold our breaths. And, surely, I can't make you feel what we felt, unless I manage to convince you to see it for yourself.

Soon, we descended into the Agawa Canyon, where we spent a couple of hours walking around, taking photos of small waterfalls, canyon walls, and each other. The return trip over the trestle provided us with an even clearer view. The breeze had scattered the mist, and we could not tell where lake ended and sky began on the vast horizon ahead. It was splendid! It was magnificent! It was the kind of sight that makes you understand that a tree is not the only thing that only God can make!

Putting blinders on political views

By MARTHA PERKINS

In my not-so-very-far-away youth, I believed the world and its politics were painted in black and white. There was my way or the wrong way. I even got suspended from school for a week because I thought well-meant political ideas were above the law. It wasn't that I was a militant, but my political views were founded on emotion rather than experience and logic.

I guess that is why I was so disturbed last Friday night when the Young Progressive Conservatives took the stand to vote for their delegates at the upcoming Conservative leadership convention. They all looked so neat and business-like, their three-piece suits and well-pressed skirts fitting in with their young adult image.

It's not that people shouldn't have political views. Too many people sit back and watch other people control their lives without being aware of what is happening. Our opinions are molded from youth and we tend to reflect the environment around us, but to say at such a young age that "I firmly believe in this" and not sway with the times seems a very dangerous way to approach politics.

Everything that was said that Friday night could have been said by any political group. We want to revitalize our party, we want back in control of our government, things should be back to the way it used to be -- all of these things are said by the Conservatives wanting to regain control of Ontario and the Liberals trying to regain control of Canada.

One lady even said she only felt sorry for the Liberals once in her life. That seems a pretty mean way to treat other people who hold their opinions as strongly as she does. Joining a party is one thing - we are given this right so we can more fully participate in politics - but to view the other side as non-humans with no emotions or intelligence is pretty closed-minded in my account. Her children may not see anything wrong in her attitude; they too will probably end up voting Conservative. But people are more than just the political views they ascribe to.

It would seem pretty tacky for me to ponder "What gives one person the right to judge over another?" But jumping in with both feet forward I am going to. One of the reasons it's a tacky question is because it's been around for so long, from J.S. Mill trying to figure out how a democracy can be run, to anti-abortionists saying a mother has no right to abort her fetus. (Don't worry, I'm not going to get into that issue.)

We each formulate our rules of behaviour and our beliefs from the world to which we are accustomed, each person needing some base to guide

Soccer team leads league

Haliburton high school's senior soccer team remains undefeated half way through the regular season, and stands a good chance of capturing the league championship without the need of playoffs.

The team notched their third consecutive home field victory last Wednesday, shutting out the Fenelon Falls high school team 2-0.

Strong winds were a factor in the game, and Haliburton used the gusts to their advantage in the first half of play. Early in the game Lennie Johnston scored unassisted, and later in the half John Vanderhorst netted goal number two for the Redmen, assisted by Lasse Roslind and Johnston.

In the second half Haliburton had to fight the wind, and were unable to score any more goals, but they held Fenelon off the board very effectively.

Coach Glen Scully said four players put in particularly strong performances in the game: Lennie Johnston and John Vanderhorst at forward, Marcus Carl at defensive halfback, and Kevin Sicard at the fullback position.

The HHSS boys will now round out the season with three games on the road, the first of them this Wednesday in Lindsay against I.E. Weldon.

The Junior team had a tougher time against Fenelon last week, dropping a 5-1 decision to the visitors. The Juniors now have a record of one win and two losses for the season.

Haliburton high school's Junior soccer team struggled to put the ball into Fenelon Falls' net in a game at HHSS last Wednesday, but the effort was in vain, as the visiting club ended up on the winning side of a 5-0 shutout. The Juniors now have a record of two losses and a tie so far on the season.

Oldtimers team wins tournament over Kitchener

This past weekend the newly formed Haliburton Oldtimer Huskies played in their first tournament.

On Friday night, the Oldtimers defeated the Oakwood Pastimers by a score of 10-3. Goal scorers for Haliburton were Gary Brohman with three, Roy Hewitt and Bill Johnston with two each and singles going to Brian Black, Glen Scully and Roy Scott.

Saturday afternoon the Oldtimers played a team from Selkirk and won it by a four to three score, with goals going to Stuart Baker, Bill

Roy Hewitt named MVP in 'C' Division

Johnston, Roy Hewitt and Roy Scott.

On Sunday morning the Oldtimer Huskies had their hardest game, playing a team from Kitchener. Bill Johnston scored at the four minute mark of the first period and that was all the scoring to be done in the game. This game set the tone for the championship game because both teams made it to the finals.

Roy Hewitt opened the scoring for the Oldtimer Huskies at the five minute mark of the first period but the lead didn't last long, as Kitchener tied the score at the seven minute mark.

At 1:26 of the second period Bill Johnston scored to put the Oldtimers ahead to stay. At 6:53 Brian Black added an insurance marker.

The score stayed this way until, with five minutes left in the game, Roy Hewitt scored to make the final score Haliburton 4, Kitchener 1.

Roy Hewitt of the Oldtimers was the M.V.P. for the "C" Division.

On September 23, 1985 the reservoir lakes were still above the ten-year average. The percentage dropped 6.05% from the previous week and stood about 5% over the ten-year average at 55.27%.

This higher level, incurred by the wet conditions early in September is 15% higher than levels recorded at this time two years ago.

Flows on September 27, from the Burnt and Gull rivers as well as the Otonabee decreased over the past week and are again running as they were at the beginning of September.

The Kawartha lake levels, by September 27, were decreased slightly from the previous week and held in mid-range to minimize any problems associated with heavy rains, possibly from Hurricane Gloria.

Redmen split games, off to Pembroke

It was a day of mixed results for the Haliburton Redmen football teams last Friday as they travelled to Lindsay Collegiate for game three of the season.

In the Junior match, Haliburton had a tough time, losing 26-6, while the seniors put on a strong performance on their way to a 23-0 shutout of the Lindsay team.

Lindsay dominated play in the Junior game, scoring touchdowns in each of the four quarters.

Haliburton's only scoring came in the fourth quarter when Brad Archer picked up a loose ball on the LCVI 30 yard line and ran it in.

Archer played solidly on offense and defense, and the team also got good efforts from Ron Perrin and Craig Crowe, but it was obvious that the Junior Redmen are feeling the loss of quarterback Ted Paish, who is out with an injured ankle.

The senior game was the best of the season so far for Haliburton. Offensive and defensive squads made few mistakes, and it showed on the scoreboard.

Haliburton moved the ball well in the first quarter, and got within scoring range when Tom McLeod threw a 25 yard pass to Greg Pearson, who was brought down on the LCVI 15 yard line. On the next play quarterback Trevor Powers passed to Peter Allore for the major. A missed convert left the score 6-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The only scoring in the second quarter came when LCVI was forced to punt from deep in their own end. The snap went over the head of the kicker and Haliburton earned a two point safety touch.

In the second half Andrew Burk scored two touchdowns, one from three yards out and the other from the LCVI 12 yard line. The Redmen were successful on a two point conversion after Burk's first TD, as Trevor Powers tossed to Ian Cooper. Alex Little kicked the convert on the second TD of the half.

Defensively Darryl Ward, Mike MacNaull, Terry Sicard and Alex Little played noteworthy games for the Senior Redmen, while offensively, Trevor Powers was solid at the quarterback position, as were Sean Whitfield, Rob Miffin and Kevin Barnhart.

This Friday the Redmen will travel to Pembroke for Fenelon Falls Junior soccer players displayed superior ball control in a game against HHSS in Haliburton last Wednesday, but in the senior match,

ANTI-IMPAIRED DRIVING CAMPAIGN

A group of O.P.P. officers in the Peterborough District (Minden, Cobocok, Lindsay, etc.) are involved in a project designed to combat drinking and driving. One part of the plan involves the poster depicted on the left. This graphic illustration is seen frequently on government bulletin boards and in newspapers and other publications.

Our idea is to move this illustration onto the highways where motorists will see and perhaps be moved by it. If persons who have been drinking and are now driving can be reminded at that point of the terrible consequences of their actions they may be more inclined to change their attitude.

We have permission to reproduce the illustration in the form of a sticker and our intention is to supply all transport and bus companies in the district. The stickers will be mounted on the rear of transport trucks and buses and thereby be displayed to the motoring public.

Our initial goal is to raise $7,000.00 for purchase of a sufficient quantity of these 18 x 24 inch stickers.

If you wish to help sponsor this campaign, please telephone Minden Detachment at 286-1431 and indicate how many $3.00 units (stickers) you are willing to pledge.

Thank you for your support,

Mercury in fish an issue

By STEVE MacNAULL

Mercury levels in Haliburton County's lake fish will pose no health problems if a few guidelines are followed, officials at the Ministry of the Environment say.

Two weeks ago at the International Acid Rain Conference in Muskoka, scientist Karlis Sunns said mercury residues found in adult bass and yellow perch in Haliburton-Muskoka lakes were in some cases twice as high as recommended levels. That could pose a risk to humans eating the fish. He also linked the higher levels of mercury to acidic waters/acid rain.

Trace contaminants specialist Allan Johnson from the Ministry of the Environment says fears sparked at the conference and by a Toronto newspaper on mercury levels in Haliburton-Muskoka's fish are exaggerated.

Fish that have .5 parts per million or less of mercury can be consumed in unlimited quantities. Any fish with mercury levels over .5 parts per million have recommended limitations on consumption. For example, Haliburton Lake in Haliburton Township has restrictions on lake trout starting at 14 inches long, including a complete restriction on all lake trout over 26 inches long. Koshlong Lake in Glamorgan Township has a complete restriction on all smallmouth bass over 18 inches long. Both of these species and size of fish have over 1.5 parts per million of mercury.

"The danger with consumption of fish with mercury is only if you were to consume too much fish, with too high levels, too often for too long a period of time," says Allan Johnson of the Ministry of the Environment. He admits it seems complicated, but it can be clarified with a copy of the "Guide to Eating Ontario Sport Fish". This guide has analyzed close to 1,400 locations and uses symbols to indicate how many meals of that particular size and species of fish you can have a week. The guide is available free from all Ministry of the Environment and Natural Resources offices.

Johnson stresses that health problems from fish with mercury could only result if the fish is your "diet staple". And, the guide points that out.

The acid rain link to mercury levels in fish in an "indirect one," according to Johnson. Most mercury levels are natural from leaching of rock and soil. However, "lakes affected by acid rain will have somewhat stunted, smaller fish of an older age and they will appear to have higher levels of mercury," adds Johnson.

Eakins in Japan on mission

John Eakins, Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation, is in Japan on a travel trade mission to promote Japanese tourism to the province. Eakins joins an Ontario tourism delegation consisting of a number of representatives from Ontario companies interested in initiating or expanding business with Japan.

"The Japanese market is of considerable value to the province and the ministry. Japanese tourists are among the most sought after by international tourism destinations," Eakins said.

Japan ranks sixth in international tourism spending and recent increases in travel to Canada and Ontario demonstrate a healthy climate for development.

In fact, studies show tourism will be the biggest industry in the world by the year 2000. "It is critical for this province to start competing now for a large segment of that market," Eakins said. "This mission should enable Ontario tourism representatives to expand their contacts thereby significantly increasing the flow of tourist dollars into the province in the future."

This is the first Ontario group tourism mission to Japan although overseas markets are a regular feature of the ministry's marketing program.

The delegates will meet with over 100 key personnel from the Japanese travel industry in Tokyo and Osaka.

find that its candidate no longer lives in the riding.

An audience member disagreed because of the riding's size and the difficulties candidates have in getting out to meet everyone in the short time span of an election. Stevens conceded the point.

"If you look at the boundaries that have been proposed and if you look at the voting patterns, it would be a toss up as to who wins the riding," Stevens said. "If the government wants to redistribute soon they'd push to get it (boundary changes) on the agenda early."

At the end of his speech, when the delegate votes had been counted, Stevens told everyone that he is looking for volunteers to be at the conference. Volunteers are needed for security, the tourist booth, the media room and for emergency problems.

The mailed announcement makes no mention of travel costs and because the money is going out of the country to an unregistered company, the minister said consumers would have little hope of a refund if the vacation package wasn't delivered as

Forget pride and prejudice, Lily Ann has the best deals

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

Everyone knows the feeling of looking through a packed clothes closet and deciding there isn't a thing to wear. Those old black pants seem to have been around for decades and that shirt hasn't changed sizes along with you.

Parents with young children find out that the clothes to fit size four sometimes cost as much as a size fourteen. The pile of "too small" clothes grows faster than the pile that "just fits".

But what is too small for one person might be just right for another. You might want to get rid of that plaid coat you've worn for four years while someone else might be looking for one to compliment their autumn wardrobe.

Fortunately in Haliburton there is a place where one man's garbage can be another man's gold. The Lily Ann is not the place to go if you want a particular piece of clothing, but if you've got a good eye for a bargain, who can resist a dollar a bag?

'We are like the Sally Ann without the religion,' says one organizer

"The need in Haliburton was definite," says Gayle Arnup, commenting on why she and four other women started the used clothing outlet a few months ago when the Salvation Army store (called the Sally Ann by its friends) closed its doors.

These women were frequent patrons of the Sally Ann and with kids growing faster than their wallets, needed a reliable place to go to buy clothes in good condition but a quarter of the retail price.

"We're like the Sally Ann without the religion," says Arnup. However, like the Sally Ann, the money they earn goes towards a benevolent fund. If someone's house burns down, they will help the family to resettle. If a single mother finds she is without a highchair or warm winter clothes for her baby, the Lily Ann will get them for her, free of charge. The things might not be new but they're in good shape and usable.

One problem the women at the Lily Ann are facing is that sometimes people don't want to be seen there. "I find it really frustrating that a lot of the people don't come to use our facility," Arnup says. Quite often, the women may have to pack a load of clothes for a family, sizing things roughly as they go, and then deliver them to the home.

Pride is not a good reason not to go to the Lily Ann. The clothes are neatly displayed, fairly clean and sorted out into sections. It makes good business or budgeting sense to pick up a sweater for 25 cents instead of $25 and who's to know where you got it unless you want to tell them. Considering how many of the fashion trends are reaching back into our past, it makes plain good sense to pick up that paisley shirt some burnt out hippie decided to toss out instead of going to an expensive boutique capitalizing on people's gullibility to follow the fashion flock.

And what other store can promise you a new inventory every week? The Legion barn where the Lily Ann opens each Thursday morning (at the western end of Victoria Street) is too small for all the clothes that are donated to the women. Three hundred garbage bags of "pre-owned" clothes have gone through the Lily Ann's doors and there is not enough room to keep things around for a long time. So each week, anything that has not been sold must be disposed of somehow. Most charitable organizations won't come up here to pick up the excess so many times a trip has to be made to the dump.

"We've got so much stuff coming in we don't know what to do with it," says Arnup. They tried to stock some furniture but the space just wouldn't allow for big bulky pieces and now they just hear by word of mouth who is in need.

Sixteen bags full of clothes were taken to the Sally Ann in Lindsay (which now charges $1.50 for a shirt) last week and a couple of bags have been Shopping for clothes is never more fun than when you know they will only cost a dollar a bag. Like most men, Cyril Main stands back as June Pockett hits those piles of clothes.

sent to Nassau. But all the rest has to go to the dump.

Even though the Lily Ann offers so much to the community, its livelihood is threatened this winter. The Legion had more than willingly let them use its old barn but unfortunately, it is not heated and won't be warm enough to use in the winter months. Now a desperate search has begun for a new place but there seem to be more dead ends than offers.

"We've proved ourselves capable of doing it so I can't see why the town wouldn't support us," says Arnup, pointing out that part of the problem exists because many service clubs in the area do not have their own meeting places. With $150 in the bank, the Lily Ann doesn't want to take money away from those who may need it this winter just to pay a large rent.

So in the next few weeks, Arnup, Caroline Bishop, Sherry Morrison, Pat Branigan and Maggie Longworth will be desperately asking around so their cause will not die a cold winter death. The need for warm, cheap clothes seems even more urgent in the winter and many people would hate to see the shoppers' paradise close its doors, even temporarily.

If anyone has any ideas for a winter location, they are welcome to drop by the Lily Ann any Thursday morning or contact any of the women involved.

Notice

The Ministry of Natural Resources is proposing to stabilize the Shoreline to prevent erosion at the Fire Operations Headquarters in Haliburton on Head Lake. The burying of the existing water line in the lakebed at the same locations is also proposed.

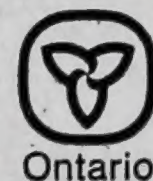

This involves placing 4'-10" gabion stone along the shoreline to prevent erosion. The trenching of the lakebed for a distance of 20 feet from the existing high water mark is also proposed to facilitate burying the water line to prevent freezing.

These projects are being planned in accordance with the approved M.N.R. Class Environmental Assessment for Shoreline and Streambank Stabilization.

Such assessments are intended to give interested and affected parties the opportunity to provide input to the planning of such projects and to request, if necessary, individual treatment under the Environmental Assessment Act.

You are invited to direct any inquiries, comments or concerns regarding the shoreline stabilization and burial of the water line to the District Manager, Minden District by Oct. 16, 1985.

Final notice of these projects will be issued to those who reply to this notice and to those whose are directly affected.

Home Support: Seniors helping seniors

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

At 96, Lillian Curry is still very much the independent woman. She has her own one-bedroom apartment in the seniors complex on Mountain Street in Haliburton and seems quite content.

A little hard of hearing and slower on her feet than she used to be, she still manages to keep a clean house and entertain friends and family.

This Meals on Wheels lunch fills Kinmount's Tom Bacon's kitchen with the aroma of tasty fish and chips.

"I like to be independent because I can go as I like and do as I like; it makes a big difference," she says. "If you live in another place then you have to live by their rules."

"I'd like to be independent for as long as I can."

Lillian Curry's sentiments about being able to stay in your own home when you get older are exactly what Home Support is all about. It's for all the other seniors like Curry, getting old but wanting to stay put, that the organization of volunteers came into being four years ago.

In many cases, it's seniors helping seniors. Kinmount's Tom Bacon receives meals on wheels at his home three times a week but he also goes out on a regular basis to deliver hot, delicious meals to other seniors in the area.

Since his parents bought the property on Highway 503 in 1924, three fires have destroyed the different homes. So if fire couldn't make him leave his land, you can see why old age wasn't going to stop Tom Bacon from living in his home.

"I like to be on my own here. Just as long as I have my health. I've been living by myself for a long time and you can do as you like."

At a recent Home Support annual meeting at the Haliburton Legion, four long tables were needed to seat the 160 people who came out for the turkey luncheon. Most of them were well on their way past the youthful side of fifty but all were energetic and full of pride in their accomplishments.

Seniors value independence and would prefer to be able to stay at home.

There are over 500 volunteers involved in Haliburton County Home Support Services and many of them are eligible to receive its services. These are people with an eye towards their future, knowing that if all it takes to enable them to stay at home is a little bit of help housekeeping or getting a few meals, they want to do everything in their power to help people stay in their homes.

"You have to like people and be sympathetic to do the jobs the volunteers do," says Bob Hollobon of Kinmount, the newly elected president of Home Support. "Also there's a selfish attitude -- I might need it myself one day."

He's been involved with Home Support for a couple of years, ever since he and some other concerned residents organized a Meals on Wheels program for Kinmount. "It made me feel good to be able to help someone," he says.

The scope of Home Support is immense. Haliburton County is a very large area but with the help of village co-ordinators, many people are touched by its helping hand.

The "service" could be a friendly little visit to keep loneliness away, or a telephone call every other day to make sure you are still up and about. You may have a sister in North Bay who's sick and Home Support will help arrange a ride so you can visit her. Many seniors exist on a tea and toast diet and the meals on wheels program ensures they get a few well-balanced meals a week. Lillian Curry gets a volunteer to come and help her with some of the light housework like vacuuming and doing the laundry. These are simple chores to a younger person but to someone with arthritis or a bad back, some of the simplest chores can mean constant pain.

"They're a really big help," says Mrs. Curry. "I couldn't be on my own if I didn't have someone come and help sometimes."

Mrs. Curry occasionally goes down to the games room to socialize with friends and play the odd game of euchre. She finds it hard to get out and about lately so instead of leaving the building to meet friends, she's made new ones there.

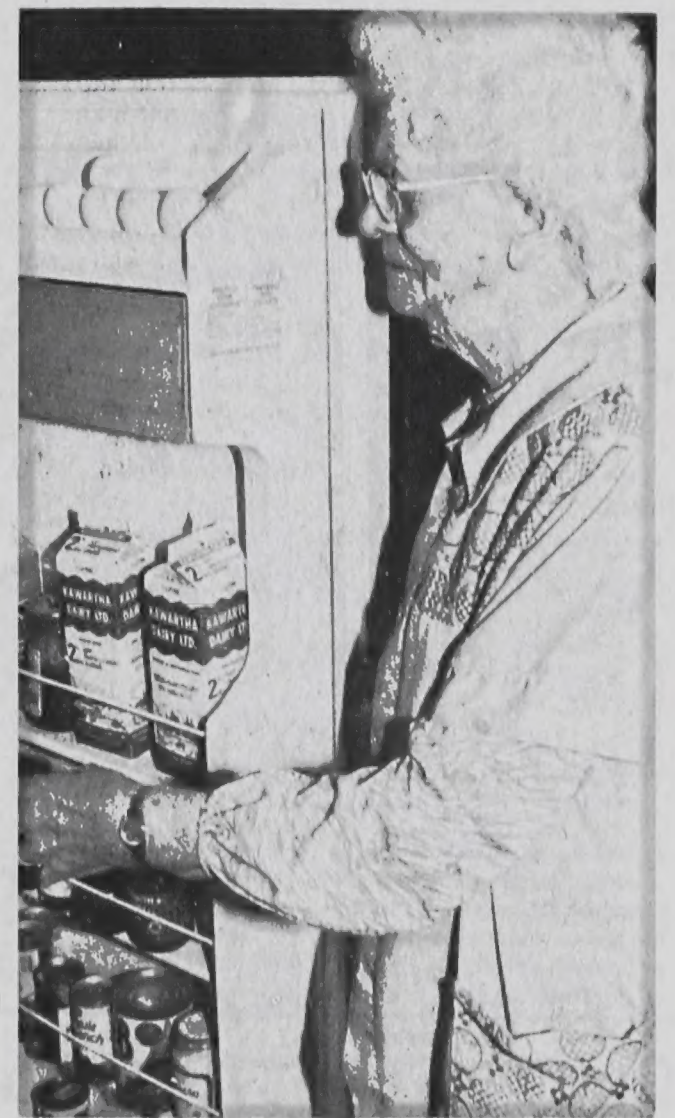

For seniors without the advantage of living among people of their own age and interests, the drop-in centre provides a perfect place to socialize. Open on weekdays and manned entirely by volunteers now, one can always be sure of something going on, whether it is a planned event or an impromptu game of cards.

Many seniors bemoaned the loss of the centre's co-ordinator. Hired with the help of a grant, the government money ran out and Home Support was unable to pay her wages alone. All is not lost however, because Hollobon says the organization is applying for different grants.

Another important aspect of the services Home Support offers is the economic status of the people it assists. Senior women, along with single mothers, are the hardest hit in times of restraint. With no pension from a job to fall back on, many depend entirely on the social security cheque they receive each month. Home Support is their lifeline, providing them with the services they otherwise could not afford. Every one is allowed to live their lives to the fullest.

"It's wonderful," says Mrs. Curry. "I don't have to worry about a thing." She'll be turning 97 in December and when asked how she managed to stay so healthy, Mrs. Curry's words of wisdom were: "I have taken care of myself. I'm careful about what I eat and I have lots of sleep. I get out; I don't stay in all the time."

Lillian Curry is a spry 96-year-old woman who can do most chores by herself but sometimes needs help.

Drop-in centre attracts more people each day

By KATHERINE
HODGSON MCMAHON

I'm glad to report that a lot of interest has been generated in the Centre. The number of people coming to the Centre as drop-ins or to participate in the organized activities has steadily increased since its opening in December, 1983. The first month the Centre was open it had 39 visitors and by June, 1984, after hosting two special events and a number of newly organized activities, the total number of people coming in for the month was 485. The popularity of the programs and the lovely facility saw the numbers continue to grow and in June 1985 the Centre saw a total of 747 persons involved in events sponsored by the Centre. (The special event of Ontario Senior Games for Haliburton County boosted the month's numbers tremendously.) It was great to see that during the month designated for seniors (June) so many came out to participate in the special events. The months of July and August saw 496 and 412 respectively participate in Drop-In Centre events.

A committee for the future function of the Drop-In Centre has been formed. They are an eager and ambitious group who want to see the Centre continue to be a focal point for the seniors of the county. The committee members to date are: Victoria Agnew, Bob Hollobon, Bruce Armstrong, Don Sinclair, Vi Smith, Laura Hartwick, Barbara Nicholls, and Bill Mighton.

The committee are looking for individuals interested in acting as host and/or hostess for the Centre on a once-a-month regular basis. Times needed for duty are: 9 a.m. to 12 noon, every morning (Monday to Friday) and Thursday afternoons, 1 p.m.

to 4 p.m. If you are interested in helping the committee with this plan for the continuation of the Centre, please drop in and sign up for duty. They need you now!

Drop-In Fall Schedule
Monday, 1:15 - Bridge - Vi Smith; Tuesday - 1:15 - Bingo - Barb Nicholls; Wednesday, 1:15 - Euchre - Laura Hartwick; Friday, 1:15 - Cribbage - Ruby and Bill Mighton. Beginners are welcome at all events.

Don't forget to drop in to read the papers, magazines, work on the "puzzle", or to have a chat with a volunteer on duty and have a cup of tea or coffee.

Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre has a lot of dedicated volunteers who have contributed greatly to the success of the Centre. A dedicated New Horizons committee met once a month for two years. They were interested in equipping the Centre and seeing that programs, workshops and special events were organized to utilize the Centre to its fullest. The Ontario Senior Games committee plan and work hard to organize the games. This involves year-round meetings. Each activity in the Centre has a volunteer convenor. They are great organizers of the program and help generate interest in "their activity". Then we have a host of individuals who attend the programs and are great supporters of the Centre. Thank you one and all for your support and interest in the Centre.

Gasoline and diesel powered tractors have replaced horses on most farms these days, but there are still people who prefer to till the soil and harvest the crops in the traditional way, and that interest in the power of draft horses was amply demonstrated last Saturday at Ingram Wessell's Norland area farm. The area farmers association organized the event.

Guild, Gallery speed ahead for winter

Some people think that once summer is over activities and work at the Guild and Gallery slow down. We are pleased to say that the contrary is true.

We begin a different kind of work keeping members, friends and staff very busy. Currently at the Gallery we are exhibiting two shows - "On the Wild Side" and "Me N' Len". Visitors to the Gallery will see wildlife photographs, bird carvings and paintings from a new book, "Me N' Len".

Interested persons have listened to wildlife author R.D. Lawrence and others have trekked out looking for migratory birds. A group learned how to attract wildlife to their backyard and others will learn what is happening with acid rain in the area. People interested in wildlife and photography can enjoy and evening with photographer/author Bill Ivy.

World travellers, those who have and those who would like to, are enjoying a series of travelogues at the Gallery. Last week we trekked down the Nile in Africa and we still can look forward to Israel, China and the Far East. All residents are welcome to attend these travel talks and join in this exciting time.

For the crafty types we are offering a knitting workshop called "Design Your Own Sweater", a Christmas ornament and smoked Christmas ball workshop. Each has a minimal fee to cover expenses and is open to any interested person.

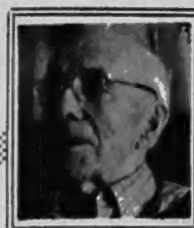

The Concert Series has worked hard again this year to bring us an excellent list of entertainment. The first concert presents the music of piano and flute by Devonian Duo on October 21. Tickets are available at the Gallery.

Our Guild Groups begin meeting again in September and by now are back into full swing with interesting plans for the upcoming year.

We are also busy with Knitters and Weavers who are scooping up Handcraft Wools from Ted Carson as they know we will only have the wool until mid October.

As you can see, our organization is as busy as ever. We do hope that residents of the area can take part in some of our events and will call us if they need further information.

Residents enjoy day in country

Senior League

by Bert Harrison at Hyland Crest

Dear readers, by the time this letter reaches you we will be in the month of October. Let us count our many blessings and all try and stay sober. Quite a lot of activity took place around here over the weekend. I see Bill Johnson is here to look after his dear mother and we are sure there were many others. I'm sorry to report that Mrs. Stutts did slip and is in Lindsay hospital with a broken hip.

We watched movies over the weekend again; there's always something to keep us entertained.

The ladies who are living in room 103 are as friendly as they can be. They invited me in to watch TV.

Ada Allcorn is surely fairing fine. Kathy Owens came to visit her and stayed with her to dine. Kathy also stayed and played the music for chapel service Sunday night when the Thompsons couldn't be there. Our sympathy to them, we would like to convey, for Harold's sister has just passed away.

Arnie Wright is back from a week's holiday. She said she had a good time while she was away.

The Peter Fearrey's are as proud as they can be. They have added another branch to the family tree. Congratulations, best wishes, what can we say more? They had three darling girls; now they have four.

Tuesday morning Pastor Wood from Allsaw Pentecostal Church came to Hyland Crest along with his wife Joyce. Pastor Wood brought us a very inspiring message, and his wife played the music and led the singing. She has a lovely voice. We would just like to say thank you for coming on this September day.

Congratulations and best wishes we would like to say, to Mary Oliver on her 96th birthday.

Tuesday noon our Doris said (she is the one who drives our bus and has a level head) "Instead of watching movies let me take you residents on a bus ride. I think the weather is going to be fine, the clouds are breaking, the sun is going to shine." Besides the residents who wanted to go, some a little fast, others a little slow, we had Doris, Linda, Jean and Harry. We went through many side roads, just where we were not certain, then Doris finally brought us out to the town of Haliburton. Then we started for West Guilford and stopped at the half way store. It seems Harold Hogg treated us to ice cream then on we came to 35 with Maple Lake in between. Then we came back to Hyland Crest.

We welcome Mrs. Janie Kent to our lovely home. We hope she'll enjoy her stay and get to like it here so well she won't want to go away. The ladies from the Kinmount UCW came to us Thursday afternoon and brought and served a tasty lunch. Doris and I played them a few lively tunes. We also had a birthday party for those who had a birthday in

Seniors take trip to Mennonite country

Coboconk News

by Shiela Lake

The Senior Citizens enjoyed a trip to the Kitchener and Cambridge area on Wednesday. Weather was good and the folks enjoyed a visit to the Farmers Market in Mennonite country, a visit through the Savage Shoe factory and other points of interest. Some folks came back with a number of mementos, including fresh vegetables and pickling supplies.

Winners in the euchre games held in Coboconk Community Hall Tuesday evening by the Seniors Coboconk group are as follows: Euchre: Agie Brown, 72; Audrey Threasher, 71; most lone hands, Jenny Calhoun, 3; consolation, Inga Wessel, 41. Gents: Ed Coppins, 85; Ross McGaughey, 73; most lone hands, Dorothy Brown, 3; consolation, Weldon Neal, 42. Bridge: Vi Gange, 5610; Mo Park/ 5140; consolation, Marion Holland, 1210.

Congratulations to newlyweds Kevin and Carole Ann Hannivan, who were married in Trinity United Church at Bobcaygeon on September 21. Kevin is the son of Leo and Elly Hannivan of Coboconk and Carole Ann Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jones of Dunsford. The newlyweds are residing in Bobcaygeon. A number of the Hannivan families from here were present for the wedding.

Our little grandson, Christopher Hirstwood came home on Friday after spending several days in Ross Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for pneumonia. Thanks to all who so kindly gave him excellent care, he seems to be doing O.K. now.

I was sorry to hear that Nora Bryant has been in hospital, recovering from surgery. Also, the little daughter of Ron and Nonie Campbell of Burnt River got home Thursday after a serious bout of flu. She was treated in Ross Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Cora Lake is another one who was very ill all last week. Get well wishes to all you folks.

According to radio reports, our feathered friends are faring some better than other years. Duck hunters are not bagging as many, so far, this year. Fly high, little ducks!

The past week was library week and I hope you took advantage and browsed through your library. While killing some time on Friday morning in Lindsay, I looked through the book store in the Lindsay Square mall and saw a number of books I'd love to read - mostly biographies. A new book on DeLorean, one on Mountbatten, to name a couple. Isn't reading a good children's book much better than most of the trash on TV?

Riverside Motors has been sold to some Kitchener folks, who will take over the business in the near future.

cancer can be beaten

Diane Johnson (nee Madill), daughter of Glen and Shirley Madill, has successfully completed her R.N.A. course at Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. She has just received her licence, with honours, from the Ontario College of Nurses. Diane is presently employed at Extendicare, Haliburton. Diane is the wife of Danny Johnson and resides in Gooderham.

Home Support

Some 170 people attended the fifth annual meeting on September 20 held at the Royal Canadian Legion, Haliburton. A new Executive and Board of Directors plus various committees are now in place for this next year. We look forward to a year of productivity and refinement. WE invite new volunteers to become part of our organization. Each of us have specialties and we encourage you to use your gifts within our organization.

The autumn newsletter is now available free of charge to anyone. Please drop into our office or Drop-in Centre and pick up a copy. It is full of information geared to seniors and disabled persons.

Our next meeting will be on Friday, October 18 at the PineStone Inn and Country Club. It will be in the form of a noon dinner - full course sirloin of beef. Guest speaker will be Dr. Art Prowse, F.R.C.P.(C), from the Psychiatric Services of Peterborough Civic Hospital. Everyone is welcome to attend this dinner meeting. Dinner reservations are required. Please phone our office by October 11 for reservations. If we can be of assistance to you please contact the Home Support office any weekday at 457-2941, or drop in to our office and Drop-in Centre which is located opposite Emmerson Lumber.

Man pinned under tractor

From the Wilberforce Red and White store comes this encouraging story to prove that some people still believe in the old rule that honesty is the best policy. A letter was received recently from a tourist who had purchased equipment from the hardware department. On arriving home they discovered that a charge had been made for just part of the article and the buyer was enclosing money to cover the balance. This was a pleasant surprise to Murray Agnew and his family, a renewal of their faith that some people can be trusted.

Pamela Brohm, who operates The Eccentric Wardrobe store in Haliburton, discovered an antique jug in one of her purchases. It has a 'made in Germany' stamp on the bottom, is in shades of pink and decorated with daisy like flowers and leaves. There is a picture on the side showing a wooded area, a road winding past a little red-roofed school house. Under the picture are the words school house, Wilberforce, Ont. A long time resident has studied the picture and decided that it was the school house that once stood where Terrace Inn is now located. Pam has donated this treasure to our village. As we have no museum yet it will be kept in the Monmouth Library.

On Saturday, September 28 John Finlay and a friend, Dennis Johnson, were busy getting wood from the bush. Using a tractor, they were skidding out logs. One of those unfortunate accidents occurred when the tractor went over a knoll, tipped over and John found himself pinned beneath as the tractor went ahead. Dennis was unable to release him so he immediately sought the help of the Wilberforce First Response Team. They quickly arrived and were able to dig under John in the soft earth and pull him out. John was very lucky to have no broken bones although he was left with a number of aches and pains from scratches and bruises. He is grateful to the members of the first response team who came so quickly to his aid.

This Sunday, October 6 a harvest service will be held at St. Margaret's Anglican Church. The church will be adorned with the fruits of the garden, the finest vegetables and the loveliest flowers. It is a time of thankfulness for the abundant crops received.

At St. Margaret's there will be a garage sale on Saturday, October 12. Many useful articles will be available. The sale, if the weather be fine, will be held outside, otherwise within the church. Time is from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Proceeds from the sale will go toward renovations to the Rectory. Also on this day the ladies will have a rummage sale in the church basement from 10 until 12 a.m.

As a reward for their dedication to the fun type game of slow pitch, a party was held in the Tory Hill Recreation Centre for Men's Baseball League on Saturday, September 28. Dan Matthews made the presentation of trophies to the winner of the A Division - the Wilberforce Firemen, and to the winners of the B Division - the Wilberforce Sluggers. Nice going fellows. Next year will be even better.

On September 21 and 22 final events for the season were held at Bill's Hills, until next year. First place winners at the Hillclimb competition were David Strain from Omeme in the 80 cc class, Dave Tinney from Cobourg in the 125 cc class with a time of 9.34 seconds. In the 250 class the winner was David Dodd from Peterborough with a time of 8.78 seconds. Steve Hivanka from Downsview won in the 500 stock class with a time of 8.45 seconds and the winner in the Nitro class was Ted Wilkins from Kinnmount with a time of 8.53 seconds. Seventeen bikes in all participated. On Sunday Motocross races were held in nine different classes. Winner in the 80 cc class was Todd Townsend who rode a new KTM bike which made its Canadian debut. It came from Austria and was the first KTM motorbike to be ridden in Canada. Todd won in both his classes. Other winners were Bruce Dewulf from Ottawa, Corey Stoll from Scarborough, Karl Asta from Peterborough, and Rick Trude from Peterborough. Chris Shipclark from Stittsville, also a winner, will be competing in races in Europe next month. Also, Richard Clarke from North Gower won in his class. Over the summer 165 riders have competed in races from 80 different towns and cities.

Keepsake ring lost and found

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss

Flo and Al Jopling would like to thank everyone involved who helped in any way in the recent recovery of a lost ring belonging to Al's mother. She and Flo were at the Kinmount Fair when the gold keepsake ring was lost and their hopes of finding it again were low but a couple from Lindsay had found it just inside the main gate to the fairgrounds and upon either reading or hearing of the loss by radio, returned it to a very happy owner. Flo claimed her faith in people once again and says there's still hope for the human race.

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noel of Malton visited with Mary and John Pyke in Norland and Lori/Lynn Liscombe, Betty Davey, Helen and Alcy Graham, Bill Moss Jr., Jason Moss, Bill and I were all most welcome guests during the week.

On the sick/shut-in list lately are: Archie Williamson, Jen Pyke, Bill Moss Jr., and many cold/flu victims. I hope you're not of them.

The Kinmount Library, beginning Tuesday, October 15, will have some time changes: Tuesdays 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and Friday 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. All other Kinmount Library visiting hours remain the same. Watch for future signs being posted about the changes.

A meeting of the local executive of the Home Support Services was held at the home of Joan and Ken Hyams on Wednesday afternoon, September 25, with nine present, including Donna Bailey of the Haliburton County Home Support Services. Donna is always a welcome guest and speaker. The meeting was most informative and ended at 3:30 p.m., although everyone stayed on for friendly visiting an added half hour or so.

A couple of weeks ago some 170 people attended the Home Support luncheon at the PineStone Inn. The meeting was very interesting I'm told, and the latest addition to the Haliburton County Echo was present and I've heard very nice reports of Martha. All members were presented with lovely certificates for their participation. If anyone would like to have Meals on Wheels delivered to their homes please call president Bob Hollobon at 286-1714 or the Home Support office in Haliburton at 457-2941.

The next meeting of the Home Support will be held Friday, October 18 at 12 noon. There will be a roast beef dinner served at the PineStone Inn. Guest speaker will be Dr. Art Prowse from Peterborough Civic Hospital, a psychiatrist with special interest in the elderly. Please make reservations by Friday, October 11.

How about you folks over Norland and 'Coby' way? Is there anyone who would like Meals on Wheels or any of the other good services? Give us a call and we'll get together and 'hash' things over.

A big welcome to the new Bank of Commerce manager in Cobocok, Larry Sielski, his wife Charlene, their young son and daughter. May you have many happy years in your new home and position. To Joe Heffer, our outgoing manager, it's been a pleasure doing business with you over the years and may your retirement be all you've dreamed in your new home. You've earned it Joe. Happy birthday to twins Nora and Norman Crego on Tuesday, September 24.

Some dates to mark on your calendar: Saturday, October 19, St. James A.C.W. present their annual turkey supper, to be held in the Kinmount Legion Hall from 4:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Adults $6, children 6-12 years of age $3, preschoolers free. This is the dinner many of you look forward to each year so get your families and friends together and enjoy.

Saturday, October 26 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Kinmount Community Centre will be a community Christmas Bazaar. There will be Christmas gifts, decorations, baked goods, refreshments and upstairs a flea market and a clothing thrift shop to be enjoyed. There are still tables and space available if you wish to get in on this venture. The charge for a table is $5. If interested or for further information please call Chris Weerdenburg at 488-2114. Mary-Lou Bales will be there with a Creative Circle table. Funds realized from this fund raising table will go towards the Kinmount Playschool.

Happy birthday to Charlie Henderson's mom, Mina Hughes, in Lindsay, who celebrates her day on October 1, from everyone here in Kinmount. Happy birthday also to Vi Crego who has her day on October 5. To all you Libras - happy days.

I hope you're feeling better, Clara Watson.

Well folks, stay well and happy, read the Echo, call me at 488-2353 and remember: growing old is a matter of mind: if you don't mind it doesn't matter! I'm glad to hear Albert Crego got his potatoes dug - now there's the turnips Albert!

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Chapter 302, Section 298, and Section 301 of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1980, as amended, that the Township Council of the Corporation of the Township of Glamorgan proposes to consider and if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held at the Council Chambers, Gooderham, Ontario on Wednesday, the 6th day of November, 1985, a By-law to close, stop-up and convey to the adjacent land owners the following described lands:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the Township of Glamorgan, in the County of Haliburton, being more particularly described on Schedules A to E inclusive as hereinafter set forth.

The plans of Survey as referred to in the said Schedules being Plans 19R-3333, 19R-3335, 19R-3336, 19R-3334 and 19R-3344 are available for inspection during regular office hours at the Township of Glamorgan offices, Gooderham, Ontario.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at the meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Township Council of the Corporation of the Township of Glamorgan shall then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at Gooderham, Ontario this 30th day of September, 1985.

ELVA V. BATES, A.M.C.T.
Clerk-Treasurer

Cottage lost to morning blaze

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Pentecostal Church last Saturday afternoon when Rev. Roger Sauve officiated as marriage vows were exchanged between Cindy Reil and Rob Billings.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Bradley. She looked beautiful in her long white gown with Chantilly-style lace bodice, high neckline with delicate Scheffle insert. Attached to the plain skirt was a long train. The matching headpiece and nylon veil completed her ensemble. She carried red roses.

Her sister, Marilyn, as maid of honour, was in burgundy and carried pink roses while the three bridesmaids, Dorothy Mintz, Joan Mintz and Adine Adams, wore salmon pink gowns and carried burgundy roses.

Attending Rob, as best man, was Gordon Manley. The ushers were Donnie Reil, Ronnie Mintz and Wade Adams. They wore tuxedos with boutonnières of red rosebuds.

Little Matthew Billings as ring bearer and Pamela Mintz as flower girl made a charming duo.

Mrs. Young presided at the piano. A reception, dinner and dance followed in the community centre.

Guests from a distance included the bride's uncle, Connie Adams and his wife, from Courtney, B.C. The happy couple left for a motor trip to North Bay and other northern points. On their return they will reside in Gooderham.

We extend wishes for the fulfillment of their most cherished dreams.

The wedding cake with its decorations and all the flowers were made by Priscilla Mintz, whose artistic talents are always recognized.

Those who witnessed the sight last Sunday afternoon were thrilled to see four moose swimming across Pine Lake.

Seventeen bridge players met at the Gooderham school last Tuesday evening. Gwen Taylor won first place with 4620 points while Bruce Armstrong was a close second with a score of 4170. I managed to get into the money also (25 cents) by coming last.

Marion James, with her friend, Hilda Colwell, from Bowmanville, spent a few days last week at her Pine Lake cottage. Hilda's son, the Rev. Ted Colwell, of Belleville, is president of the Bay of Quinte conference. The Gooderham United Church belongs to the Bay of Quinte Conference.

A cottage on Tropper Lake owned by David and Shirley Harrison was totally destroyed by fire early last Monday morning. The blaze was seen by a cottager across the lake but by the time our firemen arrived, it was impossible to save anything.

Ivan and Ileen Hunter have returned after a week's visit with their daughter, Gayle, her husband, Bill Thrift, and their daughters, Karin and Samantha, at Spruce Grove, Alberta.

Last Wednesday evening the Glamorgan Senior Citizens' Club met for their monthly Pot Luck dinner. Over 30 sat down to a plentiful variety of casseroles and desserts.

President Ivan Hunter welcomed all and introduced guests.

Dorothy Robertson introduced Elva Bates, clerk-treasurer of Glamorgan Township, who was guest speaker. She spoke on Municipal affairs, particularly the upcoming election this November. Since the three-year tenure is over then, all present council members will have to be nominated for re-election. She told of the necessary qualifications of nominees and voters. It was interesting to note that there are over 2000 names on our voters' list.

Ivan thanked her for an informative and timely talk. He paid tribute to her efficiency in discharging her duties.

After a sing-song with Len Smith at the piano, the meeting broke up for games.

These days it's rare to glimpse a team of horses pulling a set of discs, but that sight greeted people who turned out for a draft horse demonstration organized by the Haliburton County Farmers' Association on Saturday near Norland.

Wintario winner Norland News

by Kelly Graham

Hi. I hope everyone had a fantastic week. I know Joe Pierce of Norland did. Lucky Joe won $5000 in a recent Wintario draw. Congratulations Joe!

Bob Gorden, of Vancouver, British Columbia, recently enjoyed a two-week stay with Francis Gunn, of Norland.

Congratulations to another money winner, Buryel Kipp. Mrs. Kipp and Jeanne Sears of Minden, collectively won the $190 jackpot at the bingo in Coboconk last Thursday, September 19. Those are two ladies who really know how to play bingo. Bravo.

The euchre scores last week were as follows: Ladies, Aggie Brown (first), Audrey Thrasher, second, Inga Wessell, consolation, Jenny Calhoun, lone hands. In men's euchre, Ed Coppin, first, Russ McGaughey, second, Weldon Neil, consolation, Dorothy Brown, lone hand. The winners in bridge were Vi Gagne, first, Moe Park, second, Marion Holland, consolation.

Last Friday, September 27, the Victoria-Haliburton Progressive Conservative Party chose their voting delegates for the upcoming provincial leadership convention. The youth delegates chosen were Kelly Reynolds, Farley Schrader, and Kristina Garrels (alternate). The representatives for the Sr. P.C. Party are Lorne Chester, Art Ward, Glen Hodgson, Chris Karkabis, Bev Hickson, Marlene Nicholls, Ruth-Ann Mathews and Jane Johnston. The alternates in the male and female categories were Larry McKnight, Case Davidson, Dave Bishop, Dave Gemmill, Pat Chester Sr., Olive McCall, and Margot Fawcett.

Well, that's all for this week. If you have an item to submit please call me at 454-3707.

The winners of the 'What the Library Means to Me' poster contest were the following: first prize went to Jamie Kent from grade 3, second went to Jessica Wallace, grade 2A and third went to Willie Wallace, grade 3D. Congratulations to all three winners.

There will be movies at the Library/Cultural Centre for the children on Friday, October 11 from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

Happiness is actually a form of courage.

Happy birthday to Mary-Lou Packard on Saturday, October 5.

I had a call from Mary MacDuff on Sunday evening. Mary was telling me she had been chosen as model at the hair dressing school for a day in Peterborough. She said she enjoys living in Peterborough but she enjoyed here year living by the lake in Minden and it had been like a vacation to her. Mary misses all her friends, especially myself and Mary Gillis, and wants to say hello to everyone.

The Minden Kinsmen Club will be sponsoring the annual demolition derby on Saturday, October 12 at the Minden fairgrounds beginning at noon.

The Minden Beavers, Cubs and Scouts will be selling apples on Saturday, October 12. Buy an apple and help support the Scout movement in Minden.

I'm short of news each week so if you have any news for me to include in my column please call 286-3607 before 10 a.m. on the Monday so your news will appear in the Wednesday paper. Thank you.

The Minden Rotary Club will be holding the annual Oktoberfest on Saturday, October 12. There will be a live band to dance to, something to enjoy yourself until 1 a.m. The fun begins at 9 p.m. at the Minden arena. The doors open at 8 p.m.

Household hint: to remove ball point pen ink, soak in sour milk. If a dark stain still remains, rinse in a weak solution of chloride of lime.

Dave and Anne Voiccy held their wedding dance on Saturday, September 28. Congratulations to them.

We attended the teachers night at the Minden firehall on Thursday, September 26. It was nice to meet the teachers and see what goes on at the school and hear how the children are doing. Mr. Brydon is a wonderful speaker and did a good job introducing the teachers.

Congratulations to Shelley and Terry Crowe who were married Saturday, September 28. We wish them all the best.

The Rotary Club holds bingo every Tuesday evening at the Minden Community Centre at 7:30. The doors open at 7 p.m. There are special games, a door prize and a weekly jackpot.

A belated happy birthday to Brian Madill whose birth-

Realtors focus on private property

The Haliburton District Real Estate Board will observe private property week with a dinner at Bonnie View Inn on Wednesday, October 9.

The theme of private property week is to honour the heritage of private property ownership. With this in mind, Nila Reynolds, author of "In Quest of Yesterday", will be the first of three guest speakers. She will take a look back at earlier years. Shirley Rapson, Chamber of Commerce Manager, will discuss the present and a view to the future. Lynn Craigmyle, Ha-liburton County real estate broker, will briefly discuss the view of the Haliburton County Real Estate Board and the Ontario Real Estate Association.

Area residents are invited to join members of the Real Estate Board in celebrating private property week at the dinner. There will be a cash bar at 6:30 p.m., and dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets are $12 a person (tax included). A limited number of tickets are available, through Joan Rayment, 457-1365; Irene Roberts, 457-2414; and Marg Harrison, 457-2220.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

What a coup recently, when a group of the most powerful politicians in Ontario - the Ontario Cabinet - spent three days in the area. They arrived in the Highlands near Haliburton village at the PineStone Inn when the full fall beauty of our colours were starting to burst.

Until someone tells me and your readers differently, their arrival here, in Haliburton was not because of any invitation of any municipal council. Nor would I guess that our Chamber of Commerce had any input into their arrival. I'm highly suspect that it was through John Eakins' untiring promotion of the Haliburton Highlands that they favoured this area for their meeting.

Again it's apparent that it's the individual effort by one person - in this case the Honourable John Eakins MPP - that high profile promotion of the Highlands happens. Our many resorts and tourist attractions spend heavily on external promotion and here too it pays off for them and the Highlands enjoy the spin off.

As far back as I can recall the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce have been muddled by internal dissection on a lot of occasions.

However in this high level promotion I can only say thanks John Eakins and "Deerhurst Inn - eat your heart out!"

as to lake identity. Secondly, Obee had visited the area and upon viewing the site at the government dock on Otter Lake, he has agreed that the County will erect "pedestrian signs" when his crew has the opportunity to do so.

A copy of a letter sent to cottage owners who benefit from the Bear Lake Narrows Bridge sent out by Art Watson was noted and filed.

Correspondence was discussed sent from J. Priddy requesting council to supply information in respect to the status of the Bear Lake Bridge. The clerk was instructed to forward to Priddy a copy of the signed agreement between KBL Bridge Association and the Corporation.

The Ministry of Natural Resources advised council that the Ministry is finalizing the establishment of the Oxtongue River - Ragged Falls Provincial Park. The clerk was instructed to receive information as to whether this particular park would be managed under the same policy as Algonquin Provincial Park. Concern was noted as to the new park bordering on private lands.

Recently the new logo for the Township was placed on a sample gold spoon and lapel pin by Emblematic Jewellery Products. Quotes were received. The clerk was instructed to order 50 spoons and 50 lapel pins for re-sale. Decals with the Township logo will not be given out or sold in order to control use for identification purposes.

Sheep Marketing Agency

The new Ontario Sheep Marketing Agency is now in operation. The office has been established in the Ontario Stock Yards building in Toronto, and Francis Winger has been appointed Secretary-Manager of the agency.

The one per cent licence fees formerly paid by producers to the Ontario Sheep Association will now be paid to the Marketing Agency. It is anticipated that this changeover will take place effective October 1, 1985.

One of the first priorities of the agency is to set up an effective system for the collection and dissemination of sheep market information. This will involve the registration of all sheep producers in the province, as well as the licensing of all sheep and wool buyers. Information from this network will enable the agency to better advise producers regarding the marketing of their products.

Other marketing strategies will include a system of pre-consignment sales, forward contracting, and possibly the implementation of an electronic marketing system.

In addition to specific functions related to marketing, the agency will assume previous responsibilities of the Sheep Association, in the areas of producer education, product promotion, and the direction of Sheep Focus.

New Directory
Interested in a self-improvement course, or a credit course towards a degree? The Directory of Distance Education in Ontario is a booklet prepared by the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, as a result of a recent study indicating that there are educational needs among rural clientele which are not being met because of distance. Two copies are located in each Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food office. Interested persons are invited to visit the local Agricultural Office and ask to see the Directory.

In celebration of International Youth Year, the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair is hosting a public speaking competition. This competition is open to all rural youth between the ages of 15 and 24 years. Delegates to the 1985 Young Speakers for Agriculture workshops are eligible to compete.

The competition will be held on Thursday, November 14, between 1:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m., in the Board Room, Coliseum, Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. Entry forms and rules are available at the County Agricultural Office in Lindsay. These must be completed and returned by October 11 in order to be eligible.

Speeches must be five to seven minutes in length, on a current issue pertaining to Ontario's agriculture and food industry. This is an excellent opportunity for any young people interested in public speaking.

in the arena

with EDWIN LOUIS COLE

For the past four years, Edwin Louis Cole has travelled extensively, holding meetings for men only to teach biblical principles and challenge men to pursue the manhood which is Christlikeness. Women's groups often request meetings with Cole because of the unique ministry he gives them, also. Now he will teach a seminar geared specifically for the family, focusing on the roles each partner plays. Cole authored - the best-selling - book, Manhood: A Guide to Family Survival - Don't miss this inspiring seminar!

Celebrates 99th

BY CREIGHTON FEIR

Many of us would be happy if we knew that we were going to live to 99. Some people have reached this goal and one of those people is Mrs. Rispah Elstone of RR2, Haliburton and Minden who celebrated her 99th birthday on Wednesday, September 25.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of one of her daughters, Isabella Moody on Soyers Lake on Wednesday when an open house was held and everyone had an opportunity to meet with Mrs. Elstone and renew old acquaintances.

Born on a farm on Soyers Lake, 'Grandma Elstone' as she is known to many, married Edward Elstone and they enjoyed a happy life together, raising six children. In 1925 they started to build Lakeview Lodge on Soyers Lake which is still in operation today under the management of Mrs. Elstone's daughter-in-law Francis Elstone. The lodge business now has been turned into housekeeping cabins. Edward Elstone died in November, 1944.

Mrs. Elstone's family consisted of Clifford, Isabella Moody, Marvis Burk and three other sons Harry, Harold and George who pre-deceased her. She has seventeen grandchildren, twenty-six great grandchildren and two great, great grandchildren.

This 99 year old lady is still enjoying fairly good health and is able to attend church from time to time and other community events. She always finds time to get out and visit with her relatives who live in the area, even though she gets around with the aid of a walker.

Get involved, legion told

By GERALD IRISH

On Tuesday night, September 24, the Associates were thanked for their Legion involvement with a dinner. After the meal, the guest speaker, David Egerton, encouraged all associate members to get involved and stay involved as they will be the future leaders of the Legion. Comrade David is an associate member. He is also president of the Peterborough branch. David was introduced by zone and branch secretary Comrade Mabel Brannigan, and thanked by Branch 129 president Comrade Joan Irish. The assembled associates also received greetings from zone commander Mel Robertson and zone L.A. commander Gwen Cox.

Cadets' enrolment night saw a great turnout. Over 50 teens enrolled. There will be an enrolment night in Minden this Thursday at the Archie Stouffer School from 7 to 8 p.m. We are still interested in having more teens (ages 13 - 18) sign up - both boys and girls.

A large crowd attended the wedding and dance of our very popular bar steward Bernie Bain and his lovely bride Sharon. We all wish them much happiness.

A bus load of Legionnaires and the Legion band boarded a bus early on Sunday morning and headed for the District Drumhead Service at Campbellford. We had one of the largest contingents at the Drumhead.

generously offered to sponsor a Cadet. Thanks Doug and Jean.

Ed and Billy Picard will be entertaining in the Club Room this Saturday. Don't forget the general meeting this Thursday, October 3 at 8 p.m. See you there.

his actions. But I can't believe that what I learned in a middle class area of Lindsay is true for the farmers in the West or a young person forced out into the world at a young age. My background was secure and comfortable, with few worries or complaints. I like to think I was lucky.

I had to learn that my beliefs were not the same as everyone else's. I would get blue in the face arguing a point, just waiting for a break in the conversation to espouse my views, not listening to what the other person was saying in the meantime. It was the same with parents, friends, or strangers I would meet at social gatherings. Anyone who didn't agree with me was an idiot.

Now, I am the one who is not an idiot. Though it is sometimes hard, I give people credit for some of their views, willing to meet them half way. I still won't drink South African sherry but I can carry on a discussion about Apartheid without any nasty names rising to my lips. Tolerance for other people's viewpoints was a hard-earned lesson, but one that has smoothed my way to making new and diverse friends.

Not everyone of those young Conservatives will end up like my brother-in-law. He was president of the Young Conservatives in Toronto in his early university days. Today he is a criminal lawyer, sometimes taking on the cases of peace groups pressured by the police or the down-trodden who others believe have no right to have their rights protected in the court of law.

Everyone in Haliburton talks about the glorious fall colours around this time of year. The colours are magnificent, a change from tired old green and an optimistic way to herald the coming winter. Then again, a little colour in politics, the type that arises from debate and compromise, is always a welcome sight too, much better than the black side sitting on one side and the white on the other side, neither blending and changing with the seasons.

Irate cottager blasts Minden council

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

It is time council took a firmer stand in dealing with a problem between two property owners on Soyers Lake, one of the irate cottagers told Anson, Hindon and Minden council last Thursday night.

"This thing has been handled improperly from the very first," said Lloyd Van Koughnett, whose son Brian is having difficulties with his neighbour's cottage being too close to the property line, taking up all the beachfront land. "There's been many errors created and the township has an obligation to us to give us access (to the beachfront)."

Van Koughnett was reiterating many of the problems he has brought to council in the past concerning a cottage that was built so close to his son's. "We're just like fish in a bowl." Council has admitted in the past that there is a problem and has taken the matter to the Ontario Municipal Board.

The OMB decision will be too long in coming, in Van Koughnett's view, and he wants council to step in and force the neighbour to relinquish part of the waterfront. If council does not help him, Van Koughnett is considering private litigation.

Councillor Gary Kenney told Van Koughnett that going through the OMB would take less time and create fewer problems.

In a separate matter, a spokesman for a senior citizens group said they would like from two to four shuffleboard courts built adjacent to the Minden tennis courts. The site is perfect, he said, because there is already a hydro outlet and no major digging would be required.

soup mix, 1 cup long grain rice (raw), 1 chicken bouillon cube, 2½ cups hot water. Arrange chicken pieces in a large casserole. Sprinkle onion soup mix over it. Add uncooked rice to cover completely. Dissolve cube in hot water and pour over chicken. Cover and bake in 325-350° oven until chicken is fork tender - about 1 to 1½ hour. Add more liquid during baking, if needed. This is fast, good and easy to make.

That's all for this week. Drive carefully and watch for the children boarding and unboarding the school buses. I hope to see you all next week.

day was Monday, September 30. I hope you had a good day, Brian.

The Thursday afternoon card parties haven't started yet because of a hold up on the delivery of the special tile they are getting for the floors. They hope to being the card parties shortly after Thanksgiving if everything goes well. I will try to keep you posted on this matter.

Happy anniversary to Darlene and Brian Madill on Friday, October 4. All the best.

September with a delicious birthday cake. We wish to thank the Kinmount ladies for coming to us this September afternoon. Please come back to us again really soon.

Fern Donnelly came again Friday to help Doris with fun and fitness while Linda is away. We had no sing-song Friday afternoon. I don't know just why. Instead we watched a really interesting movie, "The King and I", which was good indeed. Then for an hour Doris to us did read.

We have new helpers in the kitchen dining room and such, so many changes taking place that it is hard to keep in touch. We have a new cleaning lady starting here today. Her name is Margaret Brohm and she'll help keep clean our lovely home.

Jack Stuart just returned to us today after undergoing surgery.
